Mobile-Pensacola Area in Path of Storm

Windham's Loss Seen $1½ Million

Disaster Area Ruling Is Likely

WINDHAM, N.Y. (AP)—Hurricane Donna's swipe at this Catskill Mountain hamlet will cost about $1½ million, officials said today as they waited for the community to be declared a disaster area. Classification as a disaster area assures federal aid.

Seven bridges in the township were wrecked, at least 200 homes were badly damaged, newly rebuilt Route 23 was torn up and business establishments, numbering about 15, suffered heavily, Town Supervisor Larry Lane reported. A fireman was drowned.

Lane had preliminary figures from Army engineers for some of the damage. He said replacement of only two bridges would cost more than $500,000.

Villagers still were boiling their drinking water, as a result of the rampaging waters that spread destruction when the hurricane's fringe rains sent creeks over their banks last Monday.

Telephone service and most electricity has been restored.

Cablevision Back To Normal After Damage by Storm

Damage estimated in the neighborhood of $5,000 was caused to facilities of Kingston Cablevision as the fringe of Hurricane Donna swept over this area Monday, according to Hadley E. Williams, general manager, who reported normal service had been restored.

Power failures caused lengthy interruption of service of the firm, and at one time during the height of the storm about 1,000 Kingston Cablevision customers were without service, Williams said.

A cable on Wrentham Street was snapped in three places by falling trees and limbs, knocking out between 200 and 300 customers in that area. Williams said that approximately 95 per cent of the service had been restored by Tuesday about 9 a. m.

Damaged wires, which extend from homes to nearby poles, were snapped by falling tree limbs, crippling service temporarily for between 50 and 100 customers.

Williams explained that although electric power was available in many homes of the area, Cablevision service was interrupted until repairs had been made to individual wires that extend from booster stations.

Mechanical Engineers To Meet September 21

Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its first meeting of the 1960-1961 season Wednesday, Sept. 21 at Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. Auditorium, South Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

Early evening tours of Central Hudson's systems operators office will commence at 5:30 p. m.

An informal meeting will follow during which ASME members and local industry management will be presented to new members.

SUNKEN TUG REMAINS — The tugboat "Margaret Feeney," formerly owned by Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp., which sank in the Rondout Creek along Abeel Street in the Wilbur section of the city on Sept. 7, still rests on the bottom of the creek as shown above. Saugerties to Buy Bank

Enlarging Town Hall, More Parking in Plan

Approval for the purchase of a former bank building given by the Town of Saugerties is the beginning of an expansion plan for the town hall, and more parking facilities.

Meeting Wednesday night, the board voted to buy the old Saugerties Savings Bank building on Main Street for $12,200.

The three-story brick structure and adjoining land will provide space for the construction of an addition to the Town Hall, and improving facilities for the town assessors and court room, according to Supervisor Peter M. Williams.

Will Raze Building

Preliminary plans call for the demolition of the 33 by 67-foot unoccupied structure for expansion to the side and rear of the Town Hall.

The former bank building, with empty offices on the second and third floors, has been vacant since the bank moved to its new modern facilities on Market Street May 16, 1959.

According to John M. Robbins, secretary-treasurer of the bank, the building is over 80 years old and had been occupied by the bank since 1884. Since that time the bank had completed two major renovations, Robbins said.

The lot extends some 195 feet to Jane Street. It has a 33-foot frontage on Main and 42-foot frontage on Jane Street.

5-Year Bond Planned

The Town Board agreed that the purchase could be financed by a five-year bond issue.

Supervisor Williams said he hesitated to make this move as the town has for many years had no bonded indebtedness. However, he said, expansion was necessary in order to keep the town building within the village.

Had the town been unable to purchase the adjoining building, eventually it would have been necessary to move to larger quarters, perhaps not as centrally located as the present facilities, Williams said.

The land not used for the addition will be paved and made available for free off-street parking, he said.

Entrance to the parking facilities will be from Main Street with exits on Jane Street.

This proposed new parking area will adjoin the new parking lot of Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company to be constructed with the bank's drive-in facilities on the former opera house site on the east side of property purchased by the town.

Trees Are Favored in Store Area

Merchants to Make Decision Monday

Use of more than 200 arborvitae trees for uptown adornment was given conditional approval Wednesday by the Board of Public Works.

The trees, rooted in redwood bases, would be placed along curbs in the uptown business district.

Permission to place trees was granted on an application made through the board of directors of the Uptown Business Men's Association. A full membership meeting of the organization is slated for Monday when the proposal is due for discussion and possible final action.

To Cost $2,200

The proposed project, as presented, to date, calls for the placing of 206 trees at an estimated cost of approximately $2,200.

Individual merchants, it was learned today, have already decided to buy 75 trees which will be placed in the area whether or not the plan as presented to the BPW is finally approved.

Decoration of the trees for Christmas season is expected to be discussed at the Monday meeting, if the association decides to purchase the trees.

Flood Plan Discussed

The BPW discussed the proposal of Alderman John P. Heitzman (D) 12th Ward, to set up a five-year program to alleviate flood and drainage conditions in sections of his ward, and instructed City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan to compile and forward data and full records of surveys made, to date, in the areas involved.

Alderman Heitzman offered the proposal at a recent Common Council meeting. Full cost of the project, he proposed, should be borne by the city. He proposed that the work be done in five separate annual phases.

Previous studies have been made in the involved areas because of the flooding of brooks, and surcharged drainage facilities.

Greene Resort Is Leveled by Fire, Second This Week

GREENVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—The Happy Days Hotel, badly damaged by a fire Wednesday, was levelled by fire today.

The two-story, frame, resort hotel of about 20 rooms was empty, and no one was reported injured.

After Wednesday's fire, the owner, John Stamas, moved to his son's home in Freehold, near this Greene County community northeast of Catskill. That fire was believed to have started in the ceiling of the basement or in a compressor.

Today's cause was not determined.

Fire Chief William Maxwell said two firemen checked the building at 7 o'clock Wednesday night and found everything in order.

Maxwell estimated the value of the building at $35,000. He had no estimate on the value of the contents.

Adirondack Drivers' Strike Halts Buses

A walkout of drivers, described by a spokesman for management as a "wildcat strike," stopped runs of the Adirondack Transit Lines, Inc., here today.

Drivers, who are members of Carl Yetzer Lodge No. 682, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said they stopped all runs after midnight because the bus line management had not lived up to the letter of an agreement arrived at last spring.

Not Aware of Violations

"We are not aware of any points of the contract not lived up to," a spokesman for management said, "and no one has told us what this is all about."

A bus line official said partial service was being maintained and since the walkout is termed as "wildcat" some of the drivers were working and others were not.

A main point of dissatisfaction, it was indicated, might have come of changes pertinent to operation of the bus line's fall schedule, which is now effective. Some drivers apparently objected to resulting changes of their hours on duty when the new timetable was announced.

Some Runs Made

Points of dissatisfaction were reportedly discussed at a Wednesday night meeting of drivers and they refused to continue operation of buses at Kingston after the final run at about midnight.

Some runs to and from points in the Adirondacks continued today, a bus line spokesman said, and an occasional run from New York, he reported, was also made. Runs between Kingston and Rosendale were not made.

An agreement between the drivers' union and management was reported after a strike of short duration last spring. It was reported then that increases for men of top experience were to be upwards of $5 a week. They were then getting slightly more than $100 a week, a union spokesman said.

Vacation time for top men was also to be increased from 16 to 18 days, and other agreements pertained to working arrangements and fringe benefits.

Gather During Day

Some 70 members of the union were involved in the spring strike. No figures were available today as to the number of drivers who remained off their jobs, but groups of some dozen or more had gathered near the (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1)

3.64 Million New Record

School Enrollment Up 117,000 Over 1959-60

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The enrollment in elementary and high schools in New York State sets another record this year, at 3.64 million, the State Education Department says.

The department, which made the estimate, said the school population was 117,000 higher than 1959-60 enrollments and 212,291 more than 1958 figures.

Will Go Higher

An enrollment record has been set annually in New York State schools for the last several years. The department anticipates increasting enrollments in future years.

The department said Wednesday that preliminary figures showed a 1960-61 enrollment in public schools of 2.78 million, an increase of 82,500 over last year.

There are 860,000 pupils in parochial and private schools this year. Most of the pupils are in schools operated by Roman Catholic Church parishes.

Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said that, to keep up with the growing enrollments, public-school construction in the last year was 20 per cent ahead of the previous year.

Allen also reported a sharp increase in the number of high school students taking science and mathematics and the number of elementary pupils receiving instruction in foreign languages.

Total Drops 2,000

He said there was a drop of 2,000, to 26,000, in the number of high school pupils in curtailed sessions because of shortages of classrooms. The total of 39,000 elementary students in the same category was unchanged from last year.

The commissioner said the number of pupils participating in a program to allow them to take some college-level studies in high school had increased five-fold since 1957.

In addition, Allen said, programs to help gifted children, including early identification of talent and courses styled for the gifted, had been introduced.

Stay for Ryan Signed in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Morgan D. Ryan, convicted of bribery in the Ulster County kickback rackets, has begun legal moves to upset his conviction.

Ryan, a Kingston businessman, was sentenced Wednesday to serve two to four years in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora. Justice Henry Clay Greenburg of State Supreme Court passed sentence at Kingston.

Ryan's lawyer, N. Le Van Haver of Kingston, applied yesterday afternoon for a certificate of reasonable doubt on Ryan's conviction.

Justice Kenneth MacAffer of State Supreme Court here issued a show cause order, directing the state attorney general's office to submit evidence why the certificate should not be granted.

The order is returnable Monday before MacAffer.

Ryan was convicted on three counts of bribing highway superintendents to buy road oil.

Hurricane Is Losing Some Force

Twisters Pummel Florida Sector

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Ethel, her power drained considerably by colder air, moved toward the coast today with top winds estimated at 100 miles an hour.

A 6 a.m. (CST) Weather Bureau bulletin placed the center of the storm 80 miles south southwest of Mobile and heading for the Mobile-Pensacola area at 15 miles per hour.

Power Lines Down

Tornadoes, an offshoot of the hurricane, struck in the Panama City, Fla., area today, 100 miles to the west. Power lines were knocked down and other property damaged by the twisters in the communities of West Bay and Springfield, the Florida Highway Patrol reported. No casualities were reported.

The Coast Guard in New Orleans reported two persons were missing and presumed drowned after their boat capsized near the mouth of the Mississippi River about 90 miles southeast of New Orleans.

One Death Results

The center of the storm extended outward 100 miles to the northeast and 50 miles to the southwest, the Weather Bureau said.

One death was indirectly attributed to the storm. Juste Savoie, 68, a retired engineer, died in New Orleans of a heart attack while securing attic windows preparing for the storm. At first there were indications the hurricane would strike New Orleans.

50,400 Flee Storm

Authorities in the central Gulf Coast estimated at least 50,400 persons fled from the fury of the storm.

At New Orleans, Louisiana Civil Defense officials said a conservative estimate of persons in shelters and private homes in southeast Louisiana was 31,000.

Residents of Louisiana's marshland country left without a second warning, undoubtedly recalling that Hurricane Audry left 500 dead and missing in 1957.

Many Unprepared

The hurricane developed so quickly off the Yucatan Peninsula deep in the Gulf Wednesday that many areas were caught unprepared. Weather Bureau officials at Miami feared that storm preparations might have started too (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Negotiations Near End Over Claims At Whittier Site

The 18-month negotiations for settlement of the claims of residents of the Whittier development in the town of Ulster may be nearing completion, according to information received today by The Freeman.

It was reported today that discussions are continuing between town and bonding company attorys with no final solution, but with some hope that agreement may be reached in the near future.

The Whittier developers went bankrupt and since that time negotiations with the bonding company have been in continuous progress for completion of certain work at the development—streets, sewage disposal, etc.

Obtain Equitable School Rate for 61-62: Schwenk

Mayor Edwin F. Radel and the Kingston Board of Education, Consolidated, have been asked by former Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk to make application to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment for a more equitable equalization rate for school purposes between the City of Kingston and those portions of the Towns of Ulster and Hurley which lie within the Consolidated District.

Informed at Albany recently that nothing could be done to change the 1960-61 equalization rate, Schwenk has now suggested that the mayor and school officials take steps toward equalizing the school tax rate for the next year.

Schwenk has protested that the dropping of the City of Kingston equalization rate from 42 per cent to 35 per cent and seeks to secure a more equitable distribution of the school tax between the tax payers of the city and those in two towns.

On Sept. 9, Schwenk conferred with Arthur Bregren of the State Board of Equalization and Assessments, and was advised, after review of figures and facts, that the Board would make further study if requested by the proper city and school officials.

The matter had been previously referred to the Board of Education by Schwenk with a request that the Board of Education take necessary steps to review the matter before the State Board of Equalization and Assessments.

On Sept. 8 the letter to President Robert H. Herzog was discussed by the board of education and referred to the Rules Committee, of which Trustee David Kline is chairman, and to School Attorney Andrew J. Cook Jr.

PROTEST TO TOWN BOARD—These residents of the East Kingston area show they are really in earnest about "nuisances" they allege are caused by a cement plant and quarry in their vicinity. Signs carried by pickets around Lake Katrine Grange Hall explain to members of Ulster Town Board how the protesting group feels. A meeting is scheduled Friday for discussion among board members, representatives of the Hudson Cement Company and an attorney for the people claiming their homes are being defaced by dust and damaged by blasting. (Freeman photo).

Meeting Set Friday on East Kingston Complaints About Area Cement Plant

Approximately 100 persons from the East Kingston and Flatbush Avenue section area attended the regular monthly meeting of the Town of Ulster Board Wednesday evening in Lake Katrine Grange Hall to protest conditions allegedly created by the Hudson Cement Corporation on North Street near East Kingston.

Supervisor Alexander Banyo suggested that a committee of residents of the East Kingston area meet at 2 p. m. Friday with members of the town board and plant officials to discuss the problem and probe for possible solutions.

Attorney Joseph Saccoman, representing the residents of the plant area, asked the board to take immediate action to remedy disturbance, odors, fumes, dust, pounding and blasting, hardship to residents and devaluation of property allegedly caused by the cement plant.

He called attention to a section of the town law which could be cited as a basis for an ordinance to regulate such situations.

Saccoman explained that residents of the area were not against the plant, which provides employment and income, but were simply asking for control of conditions.

Thomas Clausi, chairman of the group protesting plant conditions, said that Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County had toured the plant and inspected homes in the area and had expressed sympathy with the had been cracked, and that there

Attorney Abraham Streifer, representing the plant, said it was a new industry for the community, providing work for residents of the area, and stressing that the plant was not hostile to the community but wanted to do all in its power to remedy the conditions described by the opposition.

Streifer said the plant was running at an efficiency rate of 95 per cent, that most of the dust was created by a stone crusher.

A letter from the New York State Air Pollution Commission reporting that a survey is being made was presented at the meeting. The letter pointed out, however, that more time was needed in order to properly assess conditions and recommend adequate remedies.

New Equipment Due

A plant engineer reported that more than a million dollars has already been spent to remedy conditions about which residents are complaining and that he expects a shipment of new equipment by September 20 — the fourth separate attempt by the company to improve the situation.

A number of people spoke, after Supervisor Banyo opened the meeting for general discussion, residents testifying that windows had to be closed due to the dust condition, that walls had been crecked, and that there was a constant noise of blasting and drillings, etc.

U.S. Has Biggest Fire Loss, Says Italian Official

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The United States annually leads other nations in fire losses, an Italian fire official says.

Gen. Osvaldo Piermarini, head of Italy's central fire training school, Wednesday told delegates to the International Association of Fire Chiefs' convention that the U. S. loses about $1,275,000,000 a year in fires.

Italy, he said, as an example, loses about $30 million in fires. He said Italy did not have many fires with great loss or damage "due to the continual perfecting of the work of (fire) prevention.

Italy has about 19,311 firemen. Men drafted for military service may serve time in the National Fire Corps.

In a business session, the convention rejected for the seventh time a resolution to endorse consolidation of fire and police departments.

The proposed unification of forces was described as unsound and unsafe by Chief Edward F. Deignan of Elizabeth, N. J.

The four-day convention began Monday.

Reds Make U. S. Dance Again

Ike's U.N. Talk Seen Forced by K's Visit

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Russians are making the United States dance. Repeatedly this country's actions have been reactions to Communist actions. It happens again.

President Eisenhower has finally decided he'd better try to address the United Nations General Assembly next week before Premier Nikita Khrushchev has a chance.

There was no indication Eisenhower had any intention of going before the U.N. until it was learned Khrushchev and the Communist chiefs of the Iron Curtain countries were coming to the Assembly meeting which opens in New York Sept. 20.

Would Avoid Meeting

And even then the administration played with the idea of avoiding a direct meeting—even if it meant only being in the same assembly hall together—between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

At first it seemed the administration had no plans for countering any anti-American propaganda Khrushchev and his satellite friends might turn loose at the United Nations.

Then it was decided that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter should go there and speak before it was Khrushchev's turn. This seemed to be the administration's plan, although Eisenhower had talked vaguely on Sept. 7 of going to the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the State Department slapped restrictions on Khrushchev by saying that, for security reasons, the Russian would not be allowed to leave Manhattan Island when he got here.

The Russians began to denounce this. So did Khrushchev from aboard the ship bringing him here.

Feared Complete Damage

Then the administration finally seemed to realize that if Herter spoke first but Eisenhower waited weeks—or until after Khrushchev had departed—before talking to the international group the Russian damage might be complete.

So Wednesday the administration did a switch and said Eisenhower would take Herter's place in addressing the General Assembly next week, probably before Khrushchev speaks.

It was only a year ago that Khrushchev blackjacked the West and Eisenhower into agreeing to a summit meeting by his threats of shutting off West Berlin unless there was a meeting to discuss a settlement of some kind.

There was no doubt that Eisenhower even invited Khrushchev here last September to try to cool him off on Berlin before there was a summit conference.

Ticklish Journey

Eisenhower surely knows that his going to the United Nations is a pretty ticklish journey since no one can guess what Khrushchev might pull off to embarrass him again in the eyes of the world.

Still, Eisenhower could hardly afford, with the whole world watching, to let Khrushchev dominate the U.N. meeting and perhaps denounce the United States from inside America without any effort to punch back.

Gambling Defendants, Others Arraigned Before Judge Bruhn

Among defendants arraigned this week before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn by District Attorney Raymond J. Mino were:

Dominick DeMicco, charged with conspiracy and grand larceny, first degree. William Curran appeared for defendant and 10 days granted for motions and the matter adjourned to Sept. 26 at 2 p. m.

Gustave Paul Bitterlick, charged with carnal abuse of child, assault in the second degree and charge of impairment of morals. Frank Martocci appeared for defendant and the matter was adjourned to Sept. 19 at 2 p. m.

Peter Buckman, engaging in pool selling and bookmaking. Frank Campochiaro appeared for defendant, a plea of innocent was entered and 10 days granted for motions.

Bessie Walthour, charged with assault and maiming, involving the alleged acid throwing at her husband at West Park, entered a plea of guilty to assault, second degree. Defendant, a New York school teacher, will be sentenced Sept. 30. Bail was continued. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

Dismissed on application of District Attorney Mino was an assault, second degree, indictment charging Jack Regan, Main Street, Rosendale, with assaulting Harry Harp of New Paltz, a school teacher. William Curran appeared for Regan.

ULSTER PROPERTY TAXES

Ulster County was one of the upstate counties which did not increase its real estate taxes for the year 1960, according to the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization. County property tax levies were increased in 43 upstate counties.

The real property tax in Ulster County for this year are $2,612,028, a decrease of $262,364 from 1959. The change from 1958 to 1959 was an increase of $279,572. For the two-year period from 1958 to 1960 the net change was a $17,208 increase or 0.7 per cent.

Orange County had an increase in the two-year period of $628,412 or 29.4 per cent. Dutchess County had an increase of $495,259 or 26.2 per cent.

The 57 upstate counties set another record high in 1960 by levying $266,677,539.

For the entire upstate area the net change from 1958 to 1960 in county property tax levies was up 23.3 per cent, an increase of $50.4 million. On the county level, Suffolk, Oneida, and Allegany Counties registered the most rapid two-year increases. The Suffolk County jump was 132.4 per cent—from $8.7 million in 1958 to $20.1 million in 1960. But a large part of the increase was due to the inclusion of a $5.1 million police district.

Clinton, Otsego and Albany Counties showed the most rapid two-year decreases in real estate tax levies. Clinton's levy dropped from $1.7 million in 1958 to $1.6 million in 1960, a 7.6 per cent drop. Clinton, along with Albany, Essex, Franklin and Warren Counties, has cut levies in both 1959 and '60. Schoharie has reduced its levy for the fourth consecutive time.

In dollar-amounts, the largest tax levy was Nassau County's $57.7 million. Yates County's levy of $385,000 was lowest.

FREE CHEST X-RAYS

The free chest X-rays now being held in several townships of Ulster County should be taken advantage of by residents of these communities. The survey is aimed at reaching adults. Persons 15 years of age and over will be X-rayed. Everyone will get a report and all reports are confidential.

The New York State Department of Health and Ulster County Department of Health are co-sponsoring the survey. These authorities on health service advise that a check up now can pay off in years of trouble saved.

FOR BETTER TEACHERS

There is a growing movement to provide th public schools with teachers who meet higher standards. The New York State Board of Regents, for example, has just raised minimum requirements for new high school teachers in academic subjects.

In another state one of the major political parties has been urged to include in its platform a plank coming out for minimum teacher pay rates. This, it is said, would attract improved teaching talent.

These are complementary approaches—to boost requirements and to offer greater financial inducement. Both are helpful. Whatever moves are made, however, they should be directed toward recruiting as teachers men and women whose hearts are in the work, not so much for the salaries they draw as for their dedication to one of the most important professions. There lies the real key to better teaching.

GOOD OLD SILLY SEASON

Nassau County, New York, police recently put in a call for a snow removal machine because it was too hot to shovel coal.

A perspiring police detail gave up on trying to clear a highway of 12 tons of coal, spilled from an overturned truck.

Press of vital news this summer has seemed to snow under the usual hot weather "silly season" stories of monsters, and such.

It's nice to read that all the lighthearted bits haven't disappeared entirely from the news wire reports.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE YOUNGSTERS

The oldsters, for whom the term senior citizen has been invented, have votes. They are important to the politicians, particularly in states like Florida and California where there are many of them. The youngsters have no votes. They cannot organize pressure groups.

I was therefore more than usually interested in a monograph written by Professor Margaret Mead of Columbia University, prepared for the Golden Anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth.

It is questionable whether the child in our society gets a fair chance. His parents are only too often too busy, too preoccupied to do much for the child; guiltily the parent, at perhaps the wrong time, seeks to become a pal of the child, when the strong hand rather than a palsy-walsy attitude is needed. Then many children have to stay at school long beyond their capacity and patience. Of this, Professor Mead writes:

". . . The increased insistence upon the attendance of all young people at high school has resulted in a high school population which is extremely heterogeneous in character, including those who are capable of higher education and those who are actively impatient and incapable of profiting by education at the moment. In this latter group are boys who are chafing to become independent, and girls whose attention is focused primarily upon mating."

It is, in fact, this latter group who become our maladjusted juveniles because they live in enforced idleness to satisfy parental pride. Some get by because of athletics but the high school does nothing for them intellectually or vocationally. They are graduated for no good reason and hold a grudge against the world because of their own inadequacies. Professor Mead further writes:

". . . The junior high school has become a forcing ground for inappropriate and socially maladjusted attitudes in both boys and girls, laying the basis for hostility to females on the boys' part and, on the girls' part, grasping pressure toward marriage combined with contempt for males. Although these deficiencies of the junior high school are widely recognized, the attractiveness of using new junior high schools as a quick solution to the population pressures on the school system makes it probable that the evils of the junior high school will increase rather than decrease during the next decade."

Makeshift education has less value than no schooling whatsoever. Nothing rubs off in a school. The stuff that people are taught must be rubbed in hard. The young person, male or female, who spends two to four years of acute boredom, must go wrong.

Some do manage to find a college that will admit them. There are all sorts of colleges in the United States, ranging from the Ivy League group, which are hard to get into, to colleges that are easy to get into and where a student can spend four years taking easy courses or devoting himself to the gaieties of a long vacation. The parent who assumes that all American colleges are educational institutions is doing the child an injustice. Some are just places to spend time and to come out with untrained minds and a B.A. degree such as one would get from a top-notch university. Of this, professor Margaret Mead writes:

"The image of the successful American has come to include the requirement of some post-high school special training. Models for this image are both those young people who acquire conspicuous and recognized forms of higher education . . . and also those hundreds of thousands who obtain educations which are seen as symbolically the same—a college degree is a college degree wherever and whenever obtained—yet at the same time intrinsically different and inferior. These models become important for the some one-third of America's high school students who are capable of higher education but fail to pursue it."

In our present struggle for brains, for intellectual leadership, all this matters greatly. In the 19th century when we were building railroads and factories, the man who knew how to earn and accumulate money for himself was regarded as an heroic character but today, the scientist, the researcher, the government official, the educator become enormously significant. The requirement of the time is for persons with expert skills, enormous knowledge and brilliant imagination. The mathematician is essential to our society. A society such as ours cannot afford to permit schools to be places to pass the time.

The Doctor's Mailbag

'Cloud Babies' May Carry, Spread Infection for Years

BY HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From a hospital comes a letter from a young mother who, after a month of "doctoring for what appeared to be a carbuncle on the forefinger of the left hand," now faces amputation of the "tip bone of that finger." The infecting organism has proven to be a staphylococcus.

And, after reading my recent column suggesting that a new-born infant might be the innocent carrier of this villainous "bug," she relates the following history and inquires whether her particular experience might not be another horrible example.

Her daughter, now nine and a half years old, came home from the hospital as a newborn infant with "a mess of baby impetigo."

She, the patient, had a breast abscess three years ago.

Her husband and one of her other daughters "had boils and carbuncles all last winter."

The daughter who originally had "baby impetigo" has had "a series of deep boils" from one of which her doctor grew a staphylococcus that was apparently identical with the strain that produced the infection that now threatens to cost the mother the tip of her finger.

"Could it be possible," the mother inquires, "the child has carried that germ all these (9½) years?"

I'm afraid the answer is "quite probably."

These "cloud babies," (as they've recently been christened by Dr. Heinz Eichenwalk who writes of them in the Journal of the American Medical Assn.), are literally surrounded by swarms of bacteria with which they contaminate the air of the hospital and later the home.

They pass the organism on to other babies, nurses, doctors, parents and other members of the household. Each of these newly created carriers then passes organisms on to other contacts.

And so the circle is enlarged like the ripples that spread out after you've cast a line into the still waters of a lake.

The urgent problem then is the permanent interruption of this particularly vicious cycle. For obviously the loss of the mother's forefinger will be a useless sacrifice if she's to return home to face re-infection from her household of innocent carriers of enemy staphylococci.

I hope that my colleagues who are caring for our correspondent will forgive me for presuming to make suggestions sight unseen, as it were, but a broad principle of medical treatment is involved in the answer to the young mother's natural inquiry as to the best method for attacking this complex problem.

These, I believe, are the necessary steps that must be taken to rid the household of the staphylococcal menace:

Identification of the exact strain of organism involved in the epidemic;

Testing of the strain against available anti-staphylococcal agents.

Treatment of each member of the household with the chosen natistaphylococcal agent;

Thorough ventilation of the home from attic to cellar;

Prolonged boiling of household and personal linens before routine washing and ironing;

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There are deep yearnings for a new conservative political movement in the South. They come largely from dissatisfaction with the records and the parties' platforms of Democratic and Republican presidential candidates, this year.

Those sentiments were frequently written in on replies to a political trend poll of 218 southern newspaper editors who receive this column. Some representative statements:

FROM THE DEEP, OLD SOUTH, Editor R. E. Wilcox, Natchez, Miss., Times, reports that "The South is now without a party." He would like to see a third party win the election. But he admits that—barring a miracle—it is impossible.

"I believe that the two old parties are both on the way out," he writes. "Both have failed the people by ignoring principles to win party votes. They will, within a few years be replaced by two entirely new parties, Conservatives and Liberals. When that times comes, we can again vote our convictions.

"Until that time comes we would do well to vote with the less obnoxious of the present parties, keep our congressional seniority power and fight a delaying action. . . . If we lose that too, we will have had it, and we can lose it."

THAT PARTY REALIGNMENT is not too distant is the opinion of Editor David E. Gillespie of the Shelby, N. C. Daily Star:

"Political historians will record 1960 as the year when foundations were constructed for a strong two-party system in the South," is Gillespie's opinion. He cites several reasons.

The feeling that there was a deliberate effort at Los Angeles to write the Old South out of the Democratic party; the influx of new industry which is bringing new Republican leadership into the South; removal of the "stigma" attached to GOP membership in the South.

"THE SIMILARITY of the two party platforms has definitely weakened the two-party system and turned the election into a personality contest instead of the selection of a particular type of government," observes Managing Editor Dan J. Cronin of the Miami Beach, Fla., Sun.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), is too far to the right for popular appeal, Cronin states. But he says that "a well liberalizer version of the Arizona senator's ideas probably would find definite appeal in the South."

EDITOR SYLVAN H. MEYER of the Gainesville, Ga., Daily Times comments wryly that, "Conservatism of the southern brand has no leadership that is acceptable nationwide."

Another veteran Georgia editor who understandably asks that his name be withheld confides off-the-record that, "There is a political revolution going on in Georgia. The old-line forces are fighting with their backs to the wall to maintain control."

FROM NEIGHBORING SOUTH CAROLINA, T. A. Smith of the Spartanburg Journal reports that "Dixiecrats are now trying to sell the idea that the GOP is better this year. A growing number of South Carolina voters are taking the GOP as the lesser of two evils. But a part of this sentiment comes from Democrats who were really Republicans all along. Now they publicly admit it."

An effort is being made to get a slate of independent electors on the ballot, Editor Smith reports. But he finds that a majority of voters still favor a clear-cut Democratic-Republican choice.

THE FACT THAT THERE WILL BE five independent electors out of 11 on the Alabama ballot clouds the issue in that state, Editor Nat C. Faulk of the Dothan Eagle points out.

ED FIELD, EDITOR of the Selma, Ala., Times-Journal puts it this way: "On a straight Republican-Democratic showdown, Alabama would go against Kennedy, but not necessarily for the GOP, even though Nixon is favored. In other words, the people of Alabama are in a mood to protest the Democratic ticket and platform."

SEVERAL TEXAS EDITORS commented on this grouping for new party affiliations. "Practically speaking, the Democratic South is dead," admits Vic Lindley of the Bryan, Tex., Eagle.

"Many southerners would switch to a new Conservative party if they could feel that the voters would support them on a different ticket. Southerners find it hard to realize they no no longer belong in the Democratic party, even though they belong to it."

Query for Next President: Why a Strike on Pennsy?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — Neither Presidential candidate will discuss the problem — because both are afraid to antagonize one side or the other, politically — yet it's of paramount importance to the country. It involves a simple question: Why was there a strike on the Pennsylvania railroad?

Everybody knows who lost the strike—the public. Untold millions of dollars of damage was done to the business of countless bystanders who were not parties to the dispute. Hardships were imposed on individuals who were unable to travel because the railroad was shut down.

The Federal government stood by helpless. Not a single law on the statute books authorizes the executive branch of the government to act. Congress was in session when the strike was threatened and knew that there were no laws available to take care of the public interest. Yet nothing was done.

Was Strike Necessary

Now when the strike is over, Michael Quill, the union leader, claims victory, and the board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad says "this strike should never have happened" and that Quill "finally made an agreement that he could have had without a strike."

But when a devastating strike of this kind happens, there usually is no post-mortem. The public never finds out just who is to blame and whether the strike really could have been avoided. Efforts to get at the truth are usually blocked by the desire of both parties in a strike to let bygones be bygones and not to stir up new antagonisms. This time the management side has issued a statement which plainly says that whatever was granted will not cost the railroads more than a million dollars a year and that what was offered before the strike amounted to approximately the same figure.

The railroads had strike insurance financed by other railroads to help them cut down their losses during the strike, while the union members had strike benefits of their own awarded them from a Federal fund financed by a special tax levied on the railroads.

Under the circumstances, it is amazing to find that the labor leaders of the country have been silent. They have not denounced the failure of the union to accept arbitration or fact-finding boards that would come up with binding recommendations for settlement. Yet this is one of the few procedures still available to bring into play the processes of reason.

Issue of Arbitaration

The Pennsylvania Railroad although previously opposed to compulsory arbitration, was willing in the months preceding the strike to accept the verdict of an impartial judge and to be bound by the settlement. Michael Quill refused. Yet when two citizens are involved in a dispute as to compensation under a contract, they go to court and find themselves bound by a form of compulsory arbitration.

The railroad's are a "regulated monopoly." The rates for passenger and freight traffic are set by the Federal government's agency known as the Interstate Commerce Commission. Since the railroad's income is thus fixed by governmental authority, it has often been asked why their wage costs should not also be fixed the same way. But nobody wants to see wage or price controls extended any further than is absolutely necessary. Will the arbitrariness of a single union leader, however, cause Congress now to enact legislation making arbitration compulsory or giving the Federal government the power to seize the railroads in order to keep them in operation for the benefit of the public

What Was Gained?

Just what was settled by the strike? There is reason to believe that the union got very little more than it would have gotten had it settled the controversy wihout a strike. In fact, it is said that 95 per cent of what appears in the final settlement was offered by the railroad before the strike began. In the main, what was added to the final document was a formula for settling disputes on certain work rules.

The issues were not the ordinary ones. What was in dispute was not wages, but the right of the railroad to manage its own business. The unions demanded that certain work be done by them rather than be farmed, out to outside companies. It is well known that some of the larger businesses, such as the General Motors Diesel division, can do certain work far more cheaply than the Pennsylvania Railroad can do it in its own shops. Doesn't a management have the right to get work done at the lowest prices? The union doesn't think so. It employed the power of a costly strike to try to force the railroad into acceptance of its demands.

But the final agreement that was made doesn't take away the right of the railroad to farm out its maintenance work. It merely requires the railroad to show that there is a substantial benefit to it in having the work done outside, and that costs in its own shops cannot meet outside competition.

Jurisdictional Dispute

Then there was a dispute between two unions as to their jurisdictions. The railroad agreed in the end to abide by what the two rival unions should decide, but with a proviso that two men would not be permitted to do the same work. There were a number of other minor issues, but every offer of really vital importance that was made by the railroad before the strike was accepted by the union in the final settlement. Was all this worth a strike? And how can the American people obtain redress for the damages inflicted by a labor-union leader who refused to submit the issue to an impartial tribunal in order to avoid a strike?

Congress will certainly have to answer this, and whoever is elected President will have to take a stand after next January. But it is tragic that generalities and abstractions in the campaign speeches are given the voters instead of some positive statements in vital issues such as the right to damage private property.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

With the turmoil of our expensive school system at this time it is interesting to glance through schools in other times and other countries. I have a book called "Travels in Europe" by Wilbur Fisk, DD, president of the Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn. This was published in 1838 by Harper and Brothers, Cliff Street, New York. This book is only 122 years old, leather bound, yet good print.

Here is quoting a little from "Education in France" at the time. It seems then France had a high standard in their universities but I just want to mention their "elementary primary instruction which embraced reading, writing, the elements of the French language, arithmetic, and the legal system of weights and measures. That of superior primary instruction embraced in addition, the elements of geometry and its various applications, especially in linear drawing and surveying, some of the most useful ideas of natural history and the physical sciences, singing, the elements of history and geography, and especially the history and geography of France.

"The elementary schools were divided into three parts, according to the age and studies of the pupils. They opened and closed the schools days with prayer; the Holy Scriptures were required to be read, and portions of them committed to memory; and when the school had pupils in different religions, care was taken that each child received the instruction preferred by the parent." That was in France nearly 125 years ago.

Remembering that the various countries of Europe brought culture and education to America it is interesting to read further. "Children are admitted into the primary elementary schools between the ages of 6 and 13. But that those younger than 6 years may be provided for, a plan has been adopted for the establishment of 'infant schools,' private or public, which also are to be under the supervision of the government."

This in part is written about education in Germany at the time. Gymnasia is like our high school, in Frankfort, for example, this gymnasium was for the boys of the city, who, "except at the hours of school, are in their respective families; others frequently lodge and board their students, but have not the department of industry connected with them like that of Hofwyl." (Hofwyl was a famous industrial and agricultural school near Bern, Switzerland, around 1808, established by private fortune of Philipp Emanuel von Fellenberg. It was open to all classes, and comprised nine schools, including two for children. Fellenberg by his schools, writings on agriculture and education exerted a remarkable influence in Europe, and although his schools were closed after his death, others sprang up in Switzerland and Germany. Which no doubt had some influence in turn on our educational system.)

A few more lines from Dr. Fisk's book on education in Germany at the time: "Drawing, to a certain extent, is important for every person. It is next to writing itself, for the common business of life; and yet, ultra-utilitarian as we are in America, we count drawing as belonging only to ornamental accomplishments."

matter of FACT

One of the weirdest fashions came out of London in 1938. Furriers were heralding a new full-length coat made up of mouse skins. It took about 400 skins to make the coat. The cost was about $350—less if you caught your own mice.

Named Director Of Libraries in Mid-Hudson Area

HAROLD O. HARLAN

Harold O. Harlan of Midland, Michigan has been appointed director of Mid-Hudson Libraries, it was announced today by E. Matthew Netter, president of the Board of Trustees of the five-county library system chartered in 1959 to serve Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Putnam Counties.

Harlan, 33, is a native of Missouri. Since 1956 he has been the director of the Grace A. Dow Memorial Library, which is the public library serving Midland and Midland County.

Prior to his Midland post, he was city librarian of the East Chicago, Ind., public libraries. His first library experience was with the West Virginia Library Commission where he directed two county library demonstrations and organized the Roane County Library. He later was in charge of publications for the Racine, Wis., Public Library and assistant librarian of the Oak Park, Ill., Public Library.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from the University of Missouri, Harlan took his master's degree in library science at the University of Illinois.

The newly appointed director of the libraries is married and the father of a two and a half year old son. His wife is also a librarian and received her master's degree in library science from Columbia University.

They expect to move to this area soon after he takes up his new duties on November 8.

PSC Blocks Bid For Rate Boost

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Public Service Commission has blocked New York State Electric & Gas Corp.'s bid to increase natural gas rates by $1,020,700 a year.

The commission Wednesday ordered a public hearing on the company's proposal. The first session will be in Ithaca Sept. 29, two days after the proposed rate increase would have gone into effect.

Under the proposed rate schedule, some customers would pay a total of $1,395,000 a year more and others would pay $375,200 less.

Minimum monthly rates, which now range from 50 cents to $1, would be increased to $1 to $1.50.

The company said the new rates would make charges for similar services nearly the same in various parts of its territory.

The major net increase, $933,000, would be in the Ithaca Division, which includes Ithaca, Cortland, Auburn, Geneva, Newark, Penn Yan and Canadaigua.

Other increases would be in the Owego, Dansville, Nunda and Goshen districts.

The rate change would not effect the Elmira, Oneonta-Norwich, Mechanicville and Lockport districts.

The utility serves about 100,000 natural gas customers.

The proposed increases range from 1.9 per cent in Canandaigua to 17.7 per cent in Nunda.

Nimrod Found Dead

STRATFORD, N. Y. A(P)—Elmer Voorhees, 68, who disappeared while on a fishing trip, was found dead Wednesday in dense woods near this community in northeastern Herkimer County.

Dr. C. C. Whitemore, a coroner, said Voorhees, who resigned Aug. 1 as a justice of the peace for the Town of Salisbury, had died of a heart attack. The body was found by a search party.

Voorhees, of Salisbury Center, had gone fishing Tuesday.

Theatre Week Set

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Live theatre should be available throughout the nation, Gov. Rockefeller said today in proclaiming Oct. 10-16 as "Community Theatre Week" in New York State.

The governor said that growing interest in community theatres was "a development to be encouraged." It would be a great loss if live performances were restricted to big cities, he said.

Body of Woman Found

WATERVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The body of an unidentified Negro woman was found Wednesday in a migrant labor camp near this Oneida County community.

Dr. T. W. Piekielniak, a coroner, said there was no evidence of violence in connection with her death.

State Police said the woman, about 35, was known at the camp only as Louise.

REFLECTIVE HUNTER — Harold Macmillan, prime minister of Great Britain, puffs on his pipe as he rests in the heather on Grimesgill Moor near Masham, Yorkshire. The statesman was waiting for the grouse to be driven on the last day of his shooting holiday.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The increased flow of gold to other nations recently and the steady expenditure of American investment dollars abroad while such spending is slowing down here adds to the uncertainty befogging the domestic economy.

Government authorities and banking spokesmen assure that confidence in the dollar isn't being undermined. But some of them add the ominous word "yet."

Some Hopeful Signs

They mean that only if the financial balance continues to run against the United States too long would there be trouble. And they point to several hopeful signs that the situation isn't in imminent danger of getting out of hand. Some hope the trend can be reversed.

The loss of gold is told in the statistics. The U. S. gold stock is now under $19 billion for the first time in 20 years. The outflow has been much slower this year than in the two previous ones. The hoard now is about $500 million lower than this time last year. But $323 million of that loss has come in the last nine weeks.

The U. S. Treasury loses gold when other nations or international financial agencies turn in their dollar assets for it. This our law permits them to do, although the Treasury won't sell gold to U. S. citizens except for use in industry and the arts.

Others Pile Up Assets

Other nations have been piling up dollar assets for several reasons.

One is the investment abroad by American business. That is, U. S. dollars go overseas to pay for plants, materials and labor. They do so because of rising production costs here or because overseas plants let American business get around the remaining restrictions that other nations impose on U. S. products, whether in the form of tariffs, import quotas, or frozen currency transactions.

Another reason for increased foreign holdings of U. S. dollars is that the U. S. government sends around $4 billion abroad each year in the form of military and economic aid.

American tourists add to the pile of dollars that foreigners are building up, and so do our military bases abroad.

Foreigners also get dollars for the goods and services they sell us. Competition with American goods has been increasing, especially in products made in West Europe and Japan. Of late several American industries have increased their complaints and sought relief in higher tariffs or import controls.

Named to Post With Food Firm

MRS. HARLEY FISK

The appointment of Mrs. Harley R. Fisk of Maple Lane Farm as sales representative of the Kingston and Ulster County area is announced by the Rich Plan Food Corporation of Albany, a frozen food service.

In making the announcement, Norman Charron, regional sales manager, also disclosed plans for the formation of four additional offices in the nationwide chain—two of which have already been opened.

Mrs. Fisk has recently completed an intensive course in food counselling.

She is a past president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and a member of St. Philomena's Rosary and Altar Society. She has been active with her children in Boy Scout and 4-H activities. Her son, Robert, 11, was the recipient recently of a blue ribbon for his sheep at the Ulster County Fair in Forsyth Park.

She resides with her family at Maple Lane Farm, Albany Avenue Extension.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV—Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Aquanauts" splashed and bubbled its way into the CBS channels Wednesday night and this is an action series.

During the 60 minutes of the first program, we had a bride trapped almost without air in an undersea cave, divers parachuting from planes into the ocean, divers trapped 160 feet down in a shark cage and, of course, the problem of man-eating sharks.

Keith Larsen is apparently the No. 1 hero of the new series and you can tell him because he wears white stripes on his diving suit and a white helmet. His sidekick, who didn't have much to do Wednesday night, is played by Jeremy Slate.

If you enjoy "Sea Hunt," you'll like "The Aquanauts" twice as much because it's twice as long. It left me breathless.

The presidential candidates, it seems obvious, have decided against alienating the football-watchers vote by one of their joint, all-network broadcasts. The second in the series, once tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 8 (and tentative because ABC expected to have a West Coast football game in progress but was willing to interrupt has now been moved forward to Friday, Oct. 7.

NBC's new hour-long "Thriller" series started off with a well acted, well produced and thoroughly unbelievable drama of suspense.

The Tuesday night episode relied on the independent operations of two sick, sick, sick souls for excitement. And the young businessman who was affected could have—and in real life would have—nipped the whole situation in the bud.

In spite of the excellence of performances by Leslie Nielsen, Natalie Trundy and George Grizzard, and in spite of the high gloss on the production, the first "Thriller" was a disappointment.

Ex-Red Reveals Surprise Attack Basis Since 1955

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet leaders would not hesitate to launch a surprise nuclear attack on the United States if they thought this nation could be smashed with one stroke, a former Soviet naval officer says.

Defected in 1959

Capt. Nikolai Fedorovich Artamonov testified Wednesday that Soviet military strategy has been based on the doctrine of a surprise nuclear attack since February 1955.

Artamonov, 32, who was commander of a Soviet destroyer in the Baltic fleet, defected to the United States in June 1959 while stationed at Gdynia, Poland.

His appearance before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, provided the first public disclosure of his presence in this country.

He said he had been in the United States since shortly after he fled to the West, working with U. S. agencies he did not name.

He said he lives now in New York City, at an undisclosed address, without guards or any form of protection from Communist retaliation.

Available to Brass

Despite Premier Nikita Khrushchev's repeated pronouncements favoring disarmament, Artamonov said, the Soviet doctrine of a surprise attack has been official since February 1955. He said it was spelled out in a Soviet military publication available only to high-ranking officers.

UN Faces Crisis Over Red Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP —The United Nations faced a major crisis today as a result of a slashing Soviet attack on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and his Congo policies.

A wide-open break was threatened virtually on the eve of the Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's appearance here.

The Western powers, led by the United States, prepared to rally to Hammarskjold's support in another round of Security Council meetings beginning this morning on the chaotic Congo situation.

The Soviet attack, more bitter than any ever made by a big power against a U.N. secretary general, came Wednesday night from Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, newly arrived from Moscow. It reflected the intensity of the Soviet interest in the outcome of the power struggle in the new African country.

Zorin's blistering 74-minute speech against Hammarskjold was delivered after the Security Council failed to grant a Soviet bloc demand that a delegation representing leftist Congo Premier Fatrice Lumumba take part in the debate. Only the Soviet Union, Poland and Ceylon voted for a motion to seat Lumumba's delegation, while the other eight council members abstained.

No action was taken on the admission of a rival delegation representing Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Zorin accused Hammarskjold of being a tool of Western imperialists, of conspiring with the NATO powers to undermine Lumumba and of trying to re-impose colonialism under the blue and white banners of the United Nations.

Chief U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth, in a statement outside the council, called the Soviet accusations "arrogant and hypocritical." He planned to throw his full support behind Hammarskjold during today's debate.

He and other council members also were working on a resolution which in effect would be an endorsement of the secretary general's Congo program.

Obviously perturbed, Hammarskjold himself took the floor briefly and answered some of the detailed charges leveled at him by Zorin. His voice rising in anger, he said his record was fully known by the council and he was going to "stand on it."

U.N. Takes Over Planes for Rescue Of Trapped 70

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The U. N. commandeered planes here today for an attempt to rescue 70 white persons reported trapped in the tin mining town of Manono by tribesmen inflamed with narcotics and liquor.

Twenty-two Belgians and 140 Congolese were flown from Manono to Elisabethville in three U. N. planes Wednesday night. Whites who remained behind later radioed an appeal for help.

They were reported bottled up in an office building by warriors of a Baluba faction called "the tribe of the river" that overran the small town Tuesday night as adherents of Patrice Lumumba, the controversial Congolese premier.

Manono is a Katanga Province town 400 miles north of Elisabethville, the capital.

Capt. Bernhard de Montblanc, pilot of the last of the three planes to leave Manono, said it was "a sea of flames below me."

The attack was reported to have been spurred by witch doctors who told the warriors no bullets could harm them if they took hashish, a narcotic derived from hemp.

Dealers to Protest High U. S. Gas Tax

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Hundreds of service station dealers in Rochester and Monroe County plan a week-long protest against high federal gasoline taxes, beginning Oct. 1. Motorists will be asked to sign protest petitions for submission to Congressmen.

The dealers particularly oppose the temporary one-cent per gallon tax that began last Oct. 1. President Eisenhower has asked Congress to extend the tax beyond its normal expiration date next June 30. Total federal gasoline tax now is four cents per gallon. Dealers say the temporary tax already has cost New York State motorists $39.2 million dollars.

Congratulates Mexico

Nixon Vows Labor Will Have Friend If He Is Elected

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon told the International Association of Machinists he would never, as president, be "100 per cent" for the program of any group in America.

The Republican presidential candidate declared it is the obligation of the president to work for the interest "of all the people of the United States and not to set one group against another."

Nixon spoke from the same platform in Kiel Auditorium where Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival, got a thunderous, snake dancing reception Wednesday.

Some Boos With Cheers

Some boos mingled with the cheers as Nixon, speaking to some 12,000 persons, asked the delegates to "look at the record" of accomplishments for working men under 7½ years of the Eisenhower administration.

And he concluded by saying that, if elected, labor "will have a friend in the White House."

There was no big demonstration after Nixon concluded, as there was for Kennedy, but he was interrupted frequently by applause from the public gallery and often from the IAM delegates themselves.

Nixon took a sideswipe at Kennedy for saying—as Nixon quoted him—"What the American labor movement wants is what I am for and what the American labor movement opposes I oppose."

Nixon said if he were solely concerned about votes "I would tell you that today." It might, he said, "win votes."

Gives His Reasons

"But I won't tell you that and I'll tell you why," the vice president continued, "because it wouldn't be good for you, for America, for a candidate for president of the United States to make that kind of statement."

His address before a convention expected to give its endorsement to Kennedy preceded a flight to Atlantic City, N.J., for a speech to the National Federal of Republican Women.

Nixon had said in advance of his St. Louis speech that he would not seek the IAM convention's endorsement but that he hoped to "pick up a few votes" from the rank and file of the million-member union.

"I couldn't be 100 per cent for what the leaders of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are for, or for the farmers," he said.

Cites Contrast

He said that during the 7½ years under Truman the real income of wage earners went up only 2 per cent compared with 15 per cent during the 7½ years of the Eisenhower administration.

He said before the union accepts Kennedy's charge that anyone who opposes labor's program is "an enemy of progress" he wanted the delegates to look at the record.

Wednesday, Nixon made the assertion at a televised press conference in Peoria, Ill., he won't be downhearted if the Soviet Union puts the first man into space. He said it was "hard to say" whether such a Soviet achievement would have an adverse effect on his candidacy. But, if it does happen, he said, "our program is coming along splendidly and if they move ahead they won't stay there long."

Nixon arrived at St. Louis Municipal Airport at 11 p.m. and was greeted by a police-estimated crowd of 5,000.

Happy Over Reception

"It caps a wonderful day of campaigning for us," Nixon told the gathering as his wife, Pat, stood by his side. "When you see a crowd like this at this time of night in a state that is supposed to be hopelessly on the other side, believe me, things are happening."

The crowd was only about half of that which turned out for Kennedy the night before when he arrived some three hours earlier.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef in one form or another will appear at many American dinner tables over the weekend, judging by the weekly specials offered in supermarkets and neighborhood groceries.

A variety of cuts ranging from chuck roast to the more expensive sirloin steaks and rib roasts is on tap.

Produce Bit Higher

Some fresh produce may be a few cents higher due to transportation snarls caused by hurricane Donna. Fruits and vegetables are in a "weather" market, produce men say, but prices are expected to return to seasonal norms as farmers get back in the fields and resume harvesting.

Beef prices in New York metropolitan area stores range from 39 cents a pound for chuck roast, with the bone in, to sirloin steak at 95 cents a pound. Both are unchanged from a year ago.

Few Pork Specials

Turkey also is offered in some areas of the Far West and East, while specials on pork are comparatively few and far between. Pork chops are 4 to 10 cents a pound higher in scattered sections, while fryers are off 2 cents in a few places. Eggs eased off slightly after their recent climb.

Best buys among vegetables this week are cabbage, cauliflower, corn, lettuce and medium-sized onions. Carrots, peppers, celery, eggplant, squash, tomatoes and sweet potatoes are rated as good buys.

The green and juicy Thompson variety of seedless grapes heads the list of outstanding buys among fruits. Others include pears and apples.

You can get a good buy from among prunes, nectarines, lemons and small California oranges.

Children under the regular health supervision of their family physician are not admitted to the clinics unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health conference.

UE Scores Leadership

Labels AFL-CIO Just 'Big Company Union'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is "one big company union," says the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

The UE issued the label Wednesday during convention proceedings here.

Members passed a resolution which said that during the last year the AFL-CIO membership lost more labor elections than it won.

Also noted was a government source which said that the AFL-CIO has lost more than two million members since the two unions merged in 1955.

"Workers across the country know that the AFL-CIO leadership has failed to deliver on their promises of more organization, more effective collective bargaining and on legislation that serves the real interests of the people," it continued.

"The only real alternative to the corruption of the AFL-CIO bureaucracy will be through a return to democratic, rank and file unity, an elimination of all these high paid big shots and the return of genuine, fighting trade unionism that represents first and last the interests of its members."

The 300 delegates attending the convention reelected the union's three top officers.

Returned to the presidency of the labor group, which claims a membership of 160,000 in the United States and Canada, was Albert J. Fitzgerald of Lynn, Mass.

Julius Emspak of Schenectady, N. Y., was reelected secretary-treasurer, while James J. Matles of Brooklyn, N. Y., was returned as national director.

Obtain Equitable

12, Schwenk said: "I am advised that your Board can make application for a special Equalization rate for that portion of Hurley within the Kingston Consolidated School District, for school purposes only. If such application is made, the new rate would undoubtedly result in a more equitable distribution of school taxes between property owners of the City of Kingston and the Town of Hurley. It is only fair that all property owners within the Kingston Consolidated School District share equal in proportion to their property valuation, the cost of our school government."

In his letter to Mayor Radel, Schwenk said that "I am advised, that if you make application for a more favorable equalization rate for school purposes that the Board of Equalization and Assessments, will take into consideration the high assessments on Public Utility property, much of which is the Water Works property of the City of Kingston, which is located in the Town of Ulster, and undoubtedly will result in a high Eqaulization rate for the City of Kingston and a more equitable distribution of school taxes between property owners of the City of Kingston and the Town of Ulster."

"If the records should show that Water Works property of the City of Kingston, located in the various towns outside the city, are excessively assessed in comparison with other properties, it would appear advisable to have a Court review of these assessments," Schwenk concludes.

Schwenk contends that Kingston-owned water works property in the Town of Ulster is included along with other public utilities, which bear a 47.36 per cent assessment, while residence property is assessed at only 10 per cent and other business property in between those figures.

This high rate of assessment on public utility properties cause them to bear an unjust share of the school tax burden.

Hargrave Named

1937, and his doctor of medicine degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1941. He received his master's degree in public health from the John Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health in 1947.

From 1941 to 1942 he interned at the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Mich. During World War II, he served as a post surgeon at the Sharonville, Ohio, Army Engineer Depot, and then as ward officer at the Army Hospital, Cambridge, Ohio.

In 1947, Dr. Hargrave was named health officer for the former Rochester district office of the State Health Department. He left that position to become Ulster County health commissioner.

Dr. Hargrave said he will continue to reside in Port Ewen.

Steinhilber Case Put Over Till 21st

City Judge Aaron E. Klein today put over to Sept. 21 hearing of a charge dealing with alleged illegal discharge of a firearm lodged against James L. Steinhilber, 27, of 52 Elmendorf Street, a former patrolman, who, police said was involved in a Sept. accidental shooting of a fellow officer. The case had been tentatively slated for hearing today.

Officer Thomas R. Kearney, 26, of 63 Henry Street, who, authorities said, suffered wounds of the intestines in the reported mishap at the Rondout Yacht Club, returned to his home from Kingston Hospital Wednesday. A grand jury hearing of the case is also slated. Steinhilber has resigned from the force.

Q) "I would like your opinion on the three stocks I am now holding. They represent my total savings. I am steadily employed at a good salary, so I feel I can assume fairly sizable risks and in return look for big capital growth. I own Texas Instruments, Clevite and Frigikar. I am especially concerned with Frigikar, which has been declining lately." — E. S.

A) I understand your position and am happy to help you. I feel that you have assessed your situation intelligently, although I suggest that you also provide an emergency savings fund. Texas Instruments (NYSE) and Clevite (NYSE) are excellent, high quality investments for long term growth. In the past two years, investors have become increasingly aware of Texas Instruments' past record and future prospects. Operating in the important semiconductor area of electronics, the company has compiled a phenomenal growth record and has all the earmarks of continued advancement in sales earnings.

Clevite also operates in the semiconductor field but is prominent in other areas as well. It began in the manufacture of bushings and bearings and still derives a large portion of its income from the Bearings Division. Clevite should continue its rapid growth in electronics.

Frigikar (OTC) is a relatively small, well managed company, operating successfully in the highly competitive field of air conditioning equipment for automobiles. I like this stock in many respects, but I don't think it meets your aim of big capital growth. I suggest you switch to Towmotor Corp. (OTC), a leader in material handling equipment, which is benefiting from instroduction of a new line of fork lift trucks. Or if you wanted to add stability to the portfolio, along with growth, American Hospital Supply (NYSE) would fit in nicely. This company has increased its sales and earnings in each of the last five years. There is strong growth here, in a field which is not always appreciated.

ILA to Heckle Krush During Arrival Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—The dock workers plan to heckle Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he sails into New York harbor Monday.

Thomas W. Gleason, general organizer of the International Longshoremen's Association, said his union is hiring an excursion boat to go down the bay to meet the Baltika, the ship bringing Khrushchev here for the United Nations meeting.

The Baltika will dock at pier 73, East River and 25th street, 17 blocks south of the U. N.

When the Baltika is in earshot, Gleason said, the dockers will give out with catcalls and boos. The boat will be decorated with anti-Communist placards and banners.

And a band aboard the boat will play "God Bless America"—fortissimo.

IUE Will Hear Plank Friday

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Resolutions committees of the International Union of Electrical Workers are expected to throw their proposals before the union's national convention today or Friday.

Among them will be the matter of the 400,000-member union's political support in the 1960 national presidential election.

Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, told the 700 delegates Wednesday that the south's political leadership has failed.

He said, "It is incredible that some states and counties still are willing to close the schools and handicap their own children rather than accept integration."

Had the United States been able to send trained Negro citizens to the Congo to aid in coping with the problems there, it would have been a great weapon for democracy, McGill said.

The federal government was called on by union president James B. Carey to prosecute the General Electric and Westinghouse companies severely. The firms are under indictment on charges of conspiring to fix prices on government contracts.

By unanimous vote, the convention recommended that all G.E. locals decide by Sept. 25 whether to adopt a no contract, no work position. The union's contract with G.E. expires Oct. 1.

AMERICAN MENU

Home Atmosphere Affects Family's Mealtime Habits

FOR A BETTER family breakfast, the most important meal of the day, serve quick oatmeal bread and cereal flake twists.

The family meal reflects the family atmosphere. It can be good or bad. The family at war with itself, or constantly in a state of frantic haste at mealtime, rarely achieves unity and strength. But the family that enjoys leisurely, thuoghtfully planned meals, is usually a happy family.

So observes Dr. Reuben L. Hill, sociologist, director of The Family Study Center at the University of Minnesota. Asked if the American family is in a state of decline, he replied, "No, the family is in a constant state of reorganization — it's normal to have a mild state of disorganization. Today's family is a specialized agency concentrating on services that no other institution can provide. It is a sanctuary from the hurly-burly of a highly competitive industrial society, providing warmth, love, sustaining food, and recognition of personal worth which goes far to meet the needs of good mental health of personality today."

Among the changes in modern family living are those in parent-child relationships. The increasing sharing of authority between parents and children and the greater companionship between generations has made parents and children closer friends than their predecessors. The family can play an important part in the socialization and domestication of the child. Dr. Hill believes that the first child domesticates his parents. However, it is through the family's training that the child learns the right place, the right time and the right way to behave. Children learn taboo foods, dangerous foods, table etiquette and appropriate noises in relation to food through family experiences at shared meals.

He believes that experiences at the family table affect the appetite. He also stresses the importance of serving well-balanced meals that supply the nutrients essential for growth and health, thereby giving a sense of physical well-being.

Breakfast, according to Dr. Hill, is the zero hour in many homes. "It's the most hectic time of the day, when father is getting off to work and the children to school. Far too often, it is not a leisurely meal that contributes to the family's mental poise and health," he states.

However, a little organization and planning on mother's part can go a long way towards turning breakfast into a more congenial meal. First of all is to get the children up early enough to allow adequate time for dressing and unhurried eating before leaving for school. The next step in the campaign to change breakfast into a plus family meal is to make the menu so inviting that none will want to miss it.

A basic adequate breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter is the easiest and quickest pattern to follow. Different combinations of fruits, cereals and breads can make a different breakfast every morning. On weekends, add eggs and breakfast meats and special breads. Refrigerator biscuits can be quickly turned into jam-filled sweet rolls. Applesauce oatmeal bread is a quick bread that can be made ahead and stored in the refrigerator for several days or for a longer period in the freezer.

POLLY'S QUIZ

How to Create Setting for A Prized Four-Poster Bed

BY POLLY CRAMER

Dear Polly: I'm in the midst of planning my very first bedroom in my own home. I do want it to be something special. I have an antique four-poster bed which I'm painting Williamsburg blue. I also have an old washstand and dresser, both with brown marble tops. Shall I use wallpaper in back of the bed? Should the chests be rubbed down to a natural finish? What colors should I have for walls, curtains, carpet and dust ruffle? —J. M. W.

Dear J. M. W.: For that first and very special bedroom, plan on white walls with woodwork in Williamsburg blue. Finish those chests in natural wood tones. Copper-colored curtains and dust ruffle would be pretty with a braided rug that combines lots of brown, gold and blue.

Dear Polly: I'd like to change all of the colors in my den. Three walls are knotty pine and the fourth is painted a dark green. Fireplace is brick. I have dark brown cafe curtains. The room is dark and dreary so I'd like to brighten it up a bit.—Mrs. E. M.

Dear Mrs. E. M. You're right; this is a dreary room and it does need brightening. You can perk things up by using a light green paint on the one wall. Have new curtains in a sunny yellow cotton bound in deep green. Cotton slip covers in green, yellow, brown and brick color would be pretty and cheerful.

Dear Polly: I am redoing a small powder room and thus far, I have gray walls, white fixtures and gray vinyl floor. What color for curtains and bath mat set? Also, what color for door curtain in adjoining hall which is visible from the porch?—Mrs. L. M. N.

Dear Mrs. L. M. N.: Striped curtains in golden yellow and white would be pretty for both window and hall door. Make them cafe style with points at both top and bottom. Add white bone rings at the end of each point. Slide them onto top and bottom rods for curtains with a different look. Add bands of stripes to gray guest towels and instead of a bath mat set, cover the floor with yellow cotton carpet.

Dear reader: A heavy volume of mail doesn't permit Mrs. Cramer to answer her letters and post cards individually. But she will comment in her column on decorating problems of general interest. She cannot undertake to return floor plans or fabric swatches which are enclosed with letters.

State Fire Job Goes To W. Carthage Man

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Francis Brown of West Carthage, a former fire chief of that community, was appointed today as field representative in a nine-county area for the State Division of Fire Safety.

Brown will work with fire officials in developing training programs for local fire departments in the area.

His territory will include Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Lewis, Oswego, Oneida, Onondaga, Cayuga, Wayne and Ontario counties.

Acting Director George H. Proper Jr. of the fire safety division, who named Brown, said the appointment had been made from a Civil Service list. The post pays $5,516 a year.

Veterinarians Elect President for 1962

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Howard K. Fuller of Interlaken, will serve as president of the New York State Veterinary Society in 1962.

Dr. Fuller, who was elected Wednesday, will succeed Dr. Charles E. Fletcher of New York City. Fletcher took over as president for the coming year yesterday as the group's three-day meeting opened.

Fletcher succeeded Dr. Haldey E. Stephenson of Ithaca, professor emeritus of veterinary college at Cornell University.

Approximately 390 veterinarians and their wives are attending the meeting.

Socialist Workers Party Candidates Qualify

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Socialist Workers Party candidates for president and vice president — a former Teamsters organizer and a waitress — have been qualified for a place on the ballot in New York State, the party says.

Allen Taplin of New York City, the party's state secretary, said Wednesday that nominating petitions bearing 23,189 signatures had been filed with the secretary of state.

An independent candidate needs signatures of 12,000 voters throughout the state to obtain a place on the ballot.

The Socialist Worker candidates in the November election are Farrell Dobbs, the former Teamster, for president, and Mrs. Myra Tanner Weiss for vice president.

Woodstock Foundation Play Opens Friday at Playhouse

The amusement center of Ulster county this weekend (Friday-Saturday) is the Woodstock Playhouse, where the 13th annual production of the Woodstock Foundation, "Way Out There" will be presented each night at 8:30 p. m.

Authored by Ernie Ward, Al Darnovsky and Walter L. Balk, the 1960 production is a hilarious takeoff on the world of politics, missiles and music. The cast of the show features virtually all of the best known theatrical talent in the county.

Proceeds of the two performances will be used for the Foundation's annual grants to deserving artists, musicians and authors.

Foundation president, Ruth Tuck, predicted the show would be one of the most hilarious in Foundation history.

"We will have more than 25 skits and blackouts and speciality numbers which should make a hilarious show," said Miss Tuck. "Ernie Ward, Al Darnovsky, and Walter Balk have come up with some zany scripts and the rehearsals indicate that we have a smash hit on our hands."

McGrath in Cast

Heading the superb cast are Barbara McGrath and Carl Cordoni, two talented players who have had considerable experience with the Coach House Players and other companies, including the Woodstock Playhouse and Hyde Park Playhouse.

Music will be furnished by the Harry Maisenhelder orchestra of Kingston, filling the traditional role of Clem Nessel and her ensemble. Mrs. Nessel will have to by-pass this year's show because of iron clad committments. Marge Grant has done an excellent job as production chief, assisting Ernie Ward who is serving as director.

Author Balk will team with Mrs. McGrath in a takeoff on modern society, entitled "Wonderful World" and Kiki Godwin will sing an original Alexander Semmler composition. Mr. Semmler, incidentally, has written several new pieces for the show, including the theme "Way Out There." John Pike, Woodstock's famed water-colorist, will do another of his inimitable pantomimes.

Barbara McGrath will team with Carl Cordoni in a skit "Man I'm Beat" and have the lead in two others, including one called "Slipped Disk."

Mrs. Narel Directs

Mrs. Dorothy Narel, society editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, has served as choral director for the production. Jack Chalmers is stage director, assisted by John Harrison. The cast also included Milton Axel and his son, Leon Ann Balk, Carol Cashdollar, Jo Chalmers.

Also included in the plethora of well known area theatrical names are Sara Mulligan, gifted Woodstock actress; Barbara Moncure, Paul Hamilton, Don McIsaac, Edward Chavez, the noted artist-performer; Harrison and Pat Muller, a fabulous dance team; Jules and Carol Viglielmo, Barbara Williams, Scott Foster, Mildred Williams, Nina Zietek, and Carolyn Sullivan.

Augie Baptiste will be the sound manager; Mary Ganini, prompter; Ernie Wittner, props manager; Clarice Leavy, wardrobe mistress. Others on the technical staff: Ken Houghtaling, John Harrison, Peter Voss, Earl Jones and others.

If you're looking for solid entertainment either Friday or Saturday, the Woodstock Playhouse is where you'll find it.

Republican Rally - Picnic Saturday at Mink Hollow

With U. S. Senator Prescott Bush of Connecticut scheduled to be the principal speaker, the Woodstock Republican Club's second annual rally and picnic promises to be a huge success on Saturday.

A "Grand Old Party Parade" starting at West Hurley and wending its way to the Mink Hollow Ranch in Lake Hill sets the theme and setting for the annual event.

All country residents are invited to watch the parade which will feature the G.O.P. Bell Ringers of Kingston, floats, bands, cars old and new, horses and riders among them Suzi Jurgensen of Woodstock riding her prize winning "Little Girl" and gayly costumed residents. There will be plenty of fun, music and balloons for the children during the parade.

The prime reason for an old fashioned get together of this type is to meet and hear the candidates. It is from rallies such as this that the voter has made his decisions since the days of Abe Lincoln. The program committee, having this purpose in mind has been fortunate in securing the acceptance of such a prominent speaker as U. S. Senator Bush and other Republican dignitaries on the town, county, state and national levels.

At the Grass Roots

To speak of "grass roots" is not just an excuse to insert here a colloquialism, says president Vern L. May of the Woodstock Republican Club. Without the interest of everyone on the local level our government would soon break down from sheer inactivity. If a party is successful at its grass roots, no goal is too high. It is with this in mind that you, the voter, and your entire family are urged to attend. You as a voter are not just a "voter" — you are "the vote."

Several of Woodstock's most prominent artists will participate in an art exhibit at the Mink Hollow Ranch, the rally committee has announced. Among the artists exhibiting will be John Pike, Franklin Drake, Alan Cochran, William Ward, Mary Isaacs, Richard Jefferies and Harry Hohnhorst.

Several prizes will be awarded during the afternoon, among them a painting by John Pike, a television set, two table lamps donated by Joseph Marr and one hundred silver dollars.

The rally committee has done what appears to be a beautiful job of programming for the satisfaction and enjoyment of all. The dinner will be charcoal broiled steak and there will be fun and excitement for everyone Saturday at the Mink Hollow Ranch.

Joey Golpaugh Early Leader in Junior Riding

Joey Goldpaugh collected 18 points and Bonnie Kaiser had 16 at the end of the first three Junior Riding Days sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club at its Ohayo Mountain ring.

Despite an all day rain which reduced the spectators to close relatives and devoted friends of contestants, the competition was close and exciting. Three classes —knock down and out, pole bending, and break gate and out— were cancelled because of the dangerous underfooting.

The two judges—Mrs. Roberts of Zena and Mr. Harkins of Kingston—served the entire day, gallantly keeping tabs on the contestants while trying to mark down their scores on paper that was soaking wet.

First place points towards equitation trophies went to Brenda Smith, Western; Dick Plaatsman, saddle set; Judy deGroff, hunter seat. The next Junior Riding day is scheduled Sunday, Oct. 2, at 9 a. m. at the Ohayo Mountain road ring.

United States postage stamps first were placed on sale on July 1, 1847.

Concern Over Red Threat Is Seen Helping Nixon

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—The Republican state chairman says Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be elected president because Americans are concerned over Communist threats.

Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said that Nixon and the GOP vice presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge, had "the most sensitive and penetrating understanding of the policies, psychology and tactics of international communism of any leaders in American public life today."

Morhouse addressed a rally sponsored by the Ontario County Republican Committee Wednesday night.

He cited Nixon's experiences in "exposing Alger Hiss and the machinations of Communist subversions here at home," and in his clash with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev last year in Moscow.

The lighthouse at Sandy Hook, N. J., was built in 1763 and is the oldest in service in the western hemisphere.

Miss Donna Upsets Garden Club Plans

Members of the Woodstock Garden Club were startled Wednesday when they visited the home of Mrs. Lawrence F. Rainsford, 7 Neher Street, by the sight of a 40-foot uprooted willow tree. Mrs. Rainsford told The Freeman this morning the Garden Club members made the visit in order to see a sunken garden. Hurricane Donna had, in the meantime, knocked over the tree making it almost impossible to see the artistic garden arrangement.

Mrs. Rainsford also said that those interested in the art of basket making are invited to avail themselves of the long willow wands at no charge.

The Tower of Babel is not in existence.

B&O Will Vote Sept. 21 on Offer From Chesapeake

CLEVELAND (AP) — The next act is a drama that might be entitled "courtship of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad" will be presented next Wednesday in New York, when Baltimore directors meet to consider an offer for complete merger with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

C&O President Walter J. Tuohy discussed what he described as a romance with B&O Wednesday before some 500 approving Chesapeake shareholders.

The stockholders, representing more than 80 per cent of C&O's outstanding stock, voted 99.1 per cent in favor of "the terms of the marriage contract" — a C&O offer to exchange one share of New Chesapeake stock for each 1¾ shares of Baltimore Common and one share of C&O for each share of Baltimore Preferred.

The C&O offer already has been accepted by shareholders holding about 29 per cent of the total B&O voting stock, Tuohy said. The C&O offer was to have expired last Monday, but was extended to Nov. 30.

The New York Central system, which has made a competing offer for B&O shares, says it has acquired nearly 20 per cent of outstanding Baltimore common stock.

Tuohy, asked by a stockholder what would happen if neither Chesapeake nor Central secured control of B&O, declined to speculate on what might happen.

But he made it clear that a merger of the three roads "at this time is out." Noting that the New York Central still is pressing for such a merger, Tuohy called the proposal "a page from Alice and Wonderland, unrealizable in the practical world of business."

Milk Price Set $4.41 for August

NEW YORK (AP) — Dairy farmers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed will receive a uniform farm price of $4.41 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for milk delivered in August, it was announced Wednesday by Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator.

The July farm price was $4.07 per hundredweight. Farmers received $4.69 per hundredweight in August 1959.

The producer butterfat differential for August was set at 5.6 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

Receipts were up 7.53 percent over August 1959, but consumption of fluid milk was down 3.48 per cent, Dr. Blanford reported. A total of 802,503,414 pounds of milk was delivered to pool plants in August, 56,192,448 pounds more than the 746,310,967 pounds delivered in August 1959.

Consumption of fluid milk amounted to 447,983,688 pounds this year, 16,173,936 pounds under the August 1959 fluid consumption of 464,157,624 pounds. Fluid milk consumption for 55.82 percent of the August pool compared with 62.19 per cent a year ago.

There were 49,044 farmers in the pool this year compared with 49,819 in August 1959, the administrator said, a decrease of 775 this year. The average output per day per dairy in August was 528 pounds, 45 pounds higher than a year ago, when deliveries averaged 483 pounds per day reports from 400 handlers were used in computing the August price, 24 fewer than the 424 used a year ago.

The farm value of the August milk, not including the various differentials paid to dairy farmers, was $36,291,057.87. Dr. Blanford said.

The uniform price of $4.41 per hundredweight will be paid for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat and received at plants 201-210 miles from New York City.

Texas Claim Is Denied Over Move On Seaway Locks

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A U. S. District Judge has denied a $505,766 claim by a Texas firm in connection with two lock projects on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Tecon Corp. of Dallas brought the claim against Ralph E. Mills & Gorman Inc. of Flemingsburg, Vulcan Materians Co., Knoxville, Tenn., and Ralph E. Mills of Woodford County, individually.

Tecon sought a share of the profits from furnishing material to contractors for the two lock projects.

Tecon claimed it had an oral agreement with the defendants to share in the profits for stone aggregates.

Judge H. Church Ford ruled Wednesday that the claim was not substantiated by evidence.

Rotary Foundation Student Speaks Here

Miss Theresa Acker of Poughkeepsie, a Rotary Foundation student, who spent a year in Italy studying at the University of Florence, was the guest speaker Wednesday at the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting.

She was introduced by Ray A. Elmendorf, chairman of the Kingston Rotary Foundation Committee, who pointed out that the Rotary Foundation Fellowships enable graduate students to study for one year in a country other than their own as ambassadors of good will on Rotary grants. This program for the promotion of international understanding was inaugurated in 1947.

Miss Acker, who graduated from Poughkeepsie High School and Vassar College, told of her experiences in Italy as a Rotary Foundation Fellow. She also showed slides of the various parts of the country.

MVB Issues Tips To Avoid Mishaps

Noting that a large number of highway accidents have resulted from vehicles being on the wrong side of the road and from drivers failing to observe and follow procedures demanded by traffic signals and pavement markings, Commissioner William A. Hults of the State Motor Vehicle Bureau, today issued instructions as follows:

When a motorist observes traffic light green arrow signs, he may proceed cautiously in the direction indicated by the steady vertical, left or right arrows.

Flashing red lights indicate that traffic shall stop and then enter the intersection after yielding the right of way to the vehicle on the intersecting highway.

The painted lines on the pavement, Commissioner Hults said, have the following meanings:

Broken line — Indicates that the motorist may drive on the left to pass a vehicle proceeding in the same direction.

Solid line — A warning that passing or crossing to its left is dangerous.

Solid-broken combination line — Motorist may pass vehicle proceeding in the same direction when broken line is on his side of the highway. If solid line is on his side, he must not pass.

Double solid line — Motorist must not pass vehicle nor cross to the left side of this line.

Vehicle Bureau Lists Violations

Driver license revocations for major causes during the last half of August were listed today by the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

They are:

Peter Scully, Route 2, Kingston, license revoked for failure to submit to chemical test for intoxication.

Nicola De Fabio Sr., South Road, Marlboro, license revoked for conviction of leaving the scene of accident.

Barton L. Tubbs of Main Street, Highland, license revoked for conviction of a third violation committed within 18 months.

The Samoan possessions of the United States total 76 square miles, or slightly more than the District of Columbia.

Lumumba Arrests Army Strongman

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A spokesman for Premier Patrice Lumumba said today Col. Joseph Mobutu was arrested on Lumumba's orders 12 hours after the colonel announced the army was taking over power.

Mobutu, coming forward as an army strongman, announced Wednesday night that the army was "neutralizing" both Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu, the contestants in the Congo's own cold war for power, and that the Soviets and other Communists were being given 48 hours to get out of the country.

But Lumumba's spokesman, Serge Michel, a leftwing French expatriate, announced today that Lumumba was still in power.

"The prime minister is having a working session," he said. "Col. Mobutu is out of harm's way. He has been arrested."

No one in the Congolese capital was surprised by the announcement of what appeared to be the second coup in 12 hours—with possibly others being prepared.

Crowds of President Kasavubu's Abako party supporters were still marching through the city, joyful over Mobutu's coup and chanting for Lumumba's death.

Immediately after Michel's announcement of Mobutu's arrest, the Senate met for an emergency session that was four short of a quorum.

Earlier Mobutu had told newsmen that Lumumba was at Camp Leopold II, the main army camp at Leopoldville. This was taken to mean that he was in custody, but the wily premier may have been busy winning his jailers over as he did once before when he was arrested on Kasavubu's orders.

In the fast-changing situation, steel-helmeted U.N. soldiers dispersed troops of Congolese in the European quarters. U.N. Ghana troops waited behind machine guns.

Mobutu, 30, was named army chief of staff only Wednesday by Kasavubu. He had told newsmen that the embassies of the Soviet Union and her satellites were being shut down and the Red diplomats expelled.

He told a news conference the army was taking over rule in the strife-torn young African republic until some solution is reached in the deadlocked power struggle between Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Local Attorney Upstate Senator To Address GOP

A Kingston attorney will be guest speaker at the next regular meeting of the New Paltz Republican Club, and a state senator will address area Republicans at the club's annual picnic to be held at New Paltz this month.

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, who attended the Republican National convention in Chicago, will be the speaker at the club meeting on Monday, Sept. 19 at 8:15 p. m. in the New Paltz Municipal Building. He will give his personal impressions of the convention and answer questions.

Senator Earl W. Brydges, Niagara Falls, will be guest of honor and principal speaker at the picnic on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 25 at the Fred H. DuBois farm. Senator E. Ogden Bush will be among the guests.

Reports on the membership drive and the annual picnic will be submitted.

Movies showing various aspects of the State Legislature will be presented at Monday's meeting by the Ulster County Republican Women's Club, of which Mrs. Raymond LeFevre is president.

Fred Frijia, club president, expressed appreciation to Marie Fisher and Dale Traver, for their assistance in modernizing the membership record keeping system.

Members are urged to bring a friend to the meeting. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. K. Manley and Mrs. Janice Schneider.

22 Say Innocent In U. S. Court to GamblingCharges

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Judge Stephen W. Brennan of Federal District Court heard innocent pleas Wednesday from 22 accused gamblers.

Eleven of them — 10 men and a woman — were arraigned yesterday afternoon on charges of failing to buy $50 federal gambling stamps and failing to register as gamblers.

They were among 49 alleged gamblers indicted by a grand jury in Albany Aug. 1.

The 11 arraigned Wednesday afternoon were:

Charles Greco, Samuel Randesi, Mrs. Mary Julian and Ray Olmetti, all of Endicott; Ernest (Frency) Barcomb, Watertown; and William Gogdovitz, Casimir Bogdovitz, Rudy Greco, Daniel Opalka, Pat Bartos and Joseph Mittiga Jr., all of Massena.

The 11 were freed in $500 bail until their trials, which will begin Oct. 3.

In another case, Jerry L. Althouse of Durhamville, near Rome, pleaded guilty to two counts of a three-count indictment that charged he embezzled $1,263 from the Rome Trust Co. last fall and winter.

Althouse had been a teller at the bank. Brennan ordered a presentence investigation and released Althouse in custody of his attorney.

How to Pull Off a Trump Finesse

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Several of my readers have written recently to ask just what a trump finesse is and it seems appropriate to show one while I am on the general subject of finessing.

Defending against four spades East cashes the ace and king of hearts and shifts to the king of diamonds.

South has a lay down for 10 tricks, but there is no reason why he shouldn't go for 11 if he can do so with safety and the trump finesse gives him complete safety and the play for the overtrick.

All South has to do is to win that first diamond and pick up trumps with one lead. Then he plays the ace and queen of clubs from dummy. This play constitutes a trump finesse.

East has the king and if he covers South ruffs; leads a trump to dummy and discards his losing diamond on the pack of clubs. If East ducks South discards the diamond immediately and still makes that overtrick.

Why is this play completely safe? Because even though West has the king of clubs South makes his 10 tricks. He does lose to the king of clubs, but he has taken care of his diamond loser on that trick.

What's a quiet beer?

It's a beer that isn't as highly carbonated as most beers in America today. More like the beer you'd get if you were in Pilsen or Munich or Copenhagen. Utica Club is a quiet beer. Not artificially carbonated. Aged for months, not just for weeks, to give it a natural life of its own. The head is thick and creamy. There is absolutely no bitterness. It's light. And it's not as filling. If you've been paying premium prices to get the imported brands, try Utica Club. We think your reaction will be: "Why didn't somebody tell me about this before?"

Bishop Walsh Is Leaving Future To God in Communist Chinese Prison

Editor's Note—"The greatest human consolation" he ever received—that's how Bishop James Edward Walsh, imprisoned in Communist China, described the visit of his brother, former Maryland Attorney General William C. Walsh. This is another in a series of articles on Walsh's journey to Shanghai.

By WILLIAM C. WALSH
Written for The Associated Press

Copyright, 1960, By The Associated Press

The day after my arrival in Shanghai, I visited my brother, Bishop James Edward Walsh, for the first time.

He was being held in Shanghai jail, serving a 20-year sentence on charges of espionage, Mr. Li, an official of the Communist Chinese Red Cross, and Mr. Shen, an interpreter, called at my hotel and took me by car to the walled prison.

I went in, accompanied by the Chinese Red Cross representative, and entered a room in the prison building where a white-coated guard was seated at a table. I was asked to fill out an application, in duplicate—giving my name, relationship to the prisoner, listing any articles I wanted to give him, and certain other information including my telephone number. I gave them my residence phone number at Cumberland, Md.

I was also required to turn over any articles for the prisoner. After complying with these formalities, I was taken to another room where I met the prison official who was to preside over the interview. With him was an interpreter. The guard who had taken my application also accompanied me into the room, and in the back sat a photographer.

Seated at an oblong table with the prison official and interpreter on the other side, I was then read the regulations governing visits to the prison.

Can't Discuss Charges

Among other things, these stated that no written message could be given the prisoner, no notes, cameras or recording devices could be taken to the interview; there could be no discussion of the charges against the prisoner or his trial; that all letters and gifts were subject to approval by prison authorities, and that he could be given necessities only; that the interview was limited to 30 minutes and would be ended instantly if improper matters were discussed.

Shortly after the regulations were read to me and I had agreed to abide by them, my brother entered the room with a guard.

Mention of Presents Forbidden

We shook hands. Some of the Maryknoll Fathers whom I had met in Hong Kong who had been in China with my brother asked me particularly to remember them to him. When I started to mention their names, I was told this was improper and that I should confine the discussion to family matters.

My brother and I then talked about various members of the family. A little later I asked him if he wished any efforts made to obtain his release from prison. I asked because some three or four years ago he had been authorized by the Chinese authorities to leave China but had refused on the grounds that he wanted to remain with the Chinese people, among whom he had worked most of his life.

BISHOP WILLIAM C. WALSH

Leaves Future to God

The interpreter began talking to the prison official about this question, but before it was ruled out of order, my brother said:

"While no one likes to be confined, I am not unhappy here, and I leave the future entirely in hands of God."

The interpreter told me the subject could not be pursued.

My brother appeared to be well. He did not seem dejected, but on the contrary in good spirits. He told me that my visit was the greatest human consolation he had ever received.

He said he was in the prison's hospital section, not because of any illness but because of his age—69. He seemed somewhat thin, but then he never was very robust, and he told me he weighed 135 pounds, his customary weight.

My brother also told me he had a bed to sleep on; received three meals a day which, though plain, were sufficient; that he was allowed to exercise outside twice daily; that he had a cellmate who was apparently Chinese but who could speak English.

Rosary Gift Forbidden

He doesn't have his breviary or any other religious books, nor does he have a rosary. As a present representing the 50th anniversary of our graduation, the authorities of Mount St. Mary's College had provided a gold rosary for the surviving members of the class of 1910.

I asked permission to give this rosary to him, explaining it was an anniversary gift. It was turned back to me with the comment that it was not necessary for him to have it and that prisoners were allowed only necessities.

I was allowed to give my brother a box of cigars, some cookies and candy, a fountain pen, some stationery, some clothing and two pictures of my grandchildren.

Gets Red Cross Packages

He told me he was receiving the customary two Red Cross packages each month and that he had an ample supply of cigarettes. Apparently, he is allowed to smoke only three or four a day.

On my final visit I also left with the prison authorities my own prayer book, a small one, asking that it be returned to me if my brother did not receive it. I was told the book would have to be inspected, and while I tried to find out about it before I left, I was told it was still under inspection. So I don't know whether or not he got it.

At my first interview with my brother, a photographer was taking pictures. I asked the prison official whether one could be taken of my brother and me together, and this was done in the prison yard. A few days later a Chinese Red Cross representative brought me a print of this picture and also of one taken inside.

I was allowed to visit my brother on Aug. 4, Aug. 8 and Aug. 11.

Grateful to Red Cross

I have tried to give an accurate account of the interviews with my brother. I am not complaining about either the length or their numbers. I appreciate very much having been allowed to see him, and I am very grateful to the Red Cross Society of China for obtaining the permission for me, and to the Chinese authorites who granted them.

Shortly before the end of the last visit' we discussed the possibility of our seeing each other again.

I told him that if I could not get back we would not see each other again unless he got out, and he said, "We will meet in heaven."

I was somewhat upset. I remembered from the time our picture was taken in the prison yard that I could see him from the window in the room, walking across the yard to a passageway between two buildings.

I went to the window and pulled aside the curtain but as the lower part of the window was painted, I could not see through. However, the interpreter helped me to open the window. When it was opened my brother was perhaps 10 or 12 feet from the passageway.

I called to him. He turned towards the window. We waved to each other and I said, "So long, James," and then he disappeared in the passageway.

Some Solons Have Own Ideas on Relief

Rocky's Tax Plan Could Be in for Stormy Reception

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's plan for a 10 per cent cut in state income taxes is in for a stormy time in the 1960 Legislature, political barometers indicate.

It's not that the lawmakers are against cutting taxes. Many of them, including some leaders, are not convinced that Rockefeller's plan is the best way to do it.

First, there's a question of who gets the credit.

Could Happen Again

The governor is a Republican. But that has not kept the GOP majority in the Legislature from protesting what it considers Rockefeller attempts to slight it on other matters.

It could happen again.

Earlier this year, the governor rebuffed attempts of legislators, led by Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, to have tax-cuts approved in the 1961 legislative session.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino supported Rockefeller.

But, at mid-year, the governor shifted his position. Without consulting Mahoney, he announced he would recommend a 10 per cent cut in 1960 income taxes. It would apply to returns due next April.

The governor acted immediately after Mahoney and a group of GOP legislators had called for tax relief, and many observers concluded that Mahoney had forced Rockefeller's hand.

Rockefeller said he would ask the 1961 Legislature to approve the cut, provided state revenues remained high.

Thus, the stage is set for what would be considered a Rockefeller tax cut.

Mahoney Has Own Plan

But Mahoney reportedly is unwilling to yield to the governor the tax-cut banner first raised in the legislature.

The senate leader is said to be shaping up his own program for tax relief.

And Carlino has been dropping hints that, while Rockefeller may have changed his tax stand, the assembly speaker is not necessarily following.

Carlino is advising a go-slow approach. He said recently state needs would have to be considered before any decision could be reached.

Although Democratic legislators protested the 1959 tax boosts made at Rockefeller's request, the governor can expect no great support from that party for his 10 per cent plan.

Dems Want More

The Democrats plan to continue their campaign for even further cuts and to make the lower tax levels a permanent part of the revenue structure. The Rockefeller plan would apply only to 1960 returns.

Democrats have been demanding far more extensive cuts than those proposed by the governor. They hold that state revenues would support greater relief and, in any event, more money could be made available by abandoning pay-as-you-go and resuming bond borrowing.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has been the most ardent champion of the Democratic proposals.

But, a prominent Republican lawmaker said recently, neither Rockefeller nor Levitt will decide what the legislature will do about tax relief.

The Legislature will decide for itself, he said.

Brown Wishes Out Loud

Hopes Rocky Will Repeat Nixon View

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California wished out loud today that visiting Gov. Rockefeller of New York would repeat what he said last June about Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

"If he does, it won't help the cause of Vice President Nixon," Brown said in a statement "but it will greatly help to clarify some of the central issues of this campaign."

The Democratic governor was referring to remarks made at the June governor's conference in Montana by Rockefeller, then mentioned prominently as a GOP presidential aspirant.

Noting favorable comments about Nixon's experience and foreign policy positions made by Rockefeller during his current tour of California in the candidate's behalf, Brown said:

"The governor wasn't so impressed with that experience and those positions last spring. . .his two major theses were the decline in the relative military power of this country as compared with the Soviet Union, and the urgent need for medical aid to the aged through the Social Security System."

Yet, Brown said, Nixon continues to attack critics of defense policies as "apostles of despair," and his supporters pushed in the Senate for medical aid measures which Brown said Rockefeller himself had described as inadequate.

On the other hands, Brown said, Democrats have agreed with Rockefeller's call for greater defense spending, and Sen. John Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, worked in the Senate for the same principles advocated by Rockefeller on medical care.

"I think the basic question for Gov. Rockefeller today," Brown said, "is whether he is now content to accept the second best philosophies of Nixon and the Republican administration after so stoutly attacking them."

Soviet Ships Are Reported Bound For Target Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says three Soviet ships are heading for the central Pacific target area where the Soviets aim their long range missile tests. A Soviet tanker and tug also are operating in the North Atlantic.

The bare Navy announcement Wednesday had nothing to offer on what these ships are doing. But it set off immediate speculation that the ship movements may be connected with some new Soviet space achievement to be timed with the arrival in New York next week of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Air Catch Fails Of Space Capsule, Sighted at Sea

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force failed Wednesday to catch a parachuting space capsule on the fly but reported late Wednesday night that the space package was sighted in the sea.

The Air Force said the capsule, parachuted from the orbiting Discovery XV satellite, was sighted by plane about 200 miles northwest of Christmas Island and 800 to 1,000 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands.

An Air Force spokesman said an amphibious plane was expected to land on the scene about 9 a. m. Thursday (Pacific daylight Time) and recover the capsule.

This would be the third straight capsule recovery for the United States. The capsule of Discoverer XIII was plucked from the sea and the capsule of Discoverer XIV was snatched from the sky.

Upside Down $20 Bill Is Declared Genuine

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Supt. Lyle Hyatt of the Utah Highway Patrol is wondering what the going rate is for an upside down $20 bill.

Hyatt's wife, who works in a bank, found a 1934 series federal reserve note with one side printed upside down. She purchased the bill from the bank.

Hyatt took it to Secret Service Agent Robert F. Grube and he declared it genuine.

Awarded $600 Jobless Pay

Man, Who Picketed State Job Office, Wins Battle

ONEIDA, N. Y. (AP) — A man, jailed with his wife for picketing a state employment office, has won his fight for unemployment insurance.

Anthony Sacco, a labor referee, ruled in Utica Wednesday night that Dominick Decarolis, 33, of North Bay, was entitled to about $600 in unemployment insurance. Decarolis, who was fired June 26 from his job at the Camden Wire Co., said he had picketed the employment office to protest a three-month delay in receiving unemployment checks.

Decarolis, and his wife, Annice, 29, were freed from jail in $50 bail each Wednesday night. The couple, parents of four, were arrested Wednesday on charges of disorderly conduct. Police accused them of creating a disturbance.

In New York City, the State Labor Department said it disqualified Decarolis from receiving jobless benefits on the ground that it was believed he intentionally had provoked his discharge to obtain benefits.

A person who quits a job without cause is not entitled to unemployment insurance.

Decarolis appealed the decision to Sacco, who gave him a hearing several weeks ago.

Kennedy Presses Jersey Campaign

With Kennedy in New Jersey (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today America "can't stand still in the eye of the hurricane" of political change sweeping the world.

The Democratic presidential nominee pressed down the accelerator on a motorcade campaign tour of politically-doubtful New Jersey with an attack on Eisenhower administration policies he said are "losing the lead to Russia" in world affairs.

Denies All Is Well

Picking Bergen Mall Shopping Center in Paramus for this assault, Kennedy said in a prepared address that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will bring the cold war to America's doorstep in the United Nations next week.

"And yet the administration has told us that all is well," he said.

"In the 1930's while England slept, Hitler armed.

"Today, while we stand still, Khrushchev moves.

"We must learn to face the truth of our situation. You can't stand still in the eye of a hurricane. And hurricane winds of change are sweeping the world."

Must Rebuild Strength

Kennedy said the summit collapse, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan and hostile mobs in other parts of the world were "diplomatic disasters." To counter these, he said the United States must rebuild its military strength.

Striking at Vice President Richard M. Nixon's contention that he is best equipped to deal with belligerent Soviet leaders, Kennedy said: "The Russians understand strength. It is not a question of quarreling with Mr. Khrushchev. It is a question of making ourselves stronger than Russia. Talk is cheap."

Adlai's Backers Help

Kennedy carried with him out of New York what appeared to be a new solidarity among party leaders who have been quarreling more or less openly over who shall do what in the campaign.

The Democratic nominee got a shot in the arm Wednesday night when former supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson, some of whom had been miffed because their man didn't get the nomination at Los Angeles, plunked down $163,000 in campaign donations at a private dinner at which Stevenson spoke.

Earlier Kennedy had urged a gathering of state Democratic officials to work harder for contributions. He said he didn't want his campaign to break down for lack of funds.

Kennedy got an ovation when he spoke at a dinner meeting of the Liberal party, which had endorsed him and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

In introducing him, Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, Protestant theologian, told the audience that lay Catholics like Kennedy have "often been the strength of democracy, not only in this country but in Western Europe."

"Our American bigots ought to read a little history," Niebuhr said.

Search Fans Out For Jet Bomber

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Ships and planes expanded their search to[illegible] for the three-man crew of an American jet bomber which crashed Wednesday into the gale-swept Atlantic.

Hopes rose briefly after two reports of flares being sighted in the search area some 400 miles from the shores of Ireland.

The missing airmen carried full survival equipment which included rafts, flares and torches for signalling.

But eight British and American planes and a small flotilla of naval ships and merchantmen drew a blank after an all-night search.

At first light today more aircraft took off from bases around the British Isles to intensify the hunt.

"We have not abandoned hope," said a spokesman for the U.S. Air Force Sea Rescue Service. "But we must face it, every hour those men are in the water diminishes their chances."

The missing plane, a six-jet B47, was one of three flying from the United States to a base in Britain. It collided at 33,000 feet with another plane in the flight and plunged into the sea.

The second plane limped into Shannon airport with one of its engines hanging from its wing. The crew members were not hurt.

Man Loses Life As Big Plane Smashes Hangar

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A huge airliner swerved out of control at Love Field Wednesday and smashed into a hangar killing one of seven men aboard.

A steel girder protruding from the building sliced through the nose of the plane.

The four-engine Braniff International Airways DC7 burst into flames as it tore into the hangar. The flames were quickly extinguished. No one in the building was hurt.

Elmer R. Tiffany, 43, died shortly after arriving at a hospital. The other men suffered injuries, none critical.

It took rescue workers nearly two hours to free five of the men.

The plane, undergoing maintenance, was being taxied to a ramp to test engines when it swerved sharply and hit the building.

Observers said one engine might have run wild, or the brakes of the plane might have failed.

Library System Staff Studies Member's Needs

During August, the staff of Ramapo Catskill Library System visited all but three of its 33 member libraries. This resulted in average of 10 visits per staff member and 1,573 miles traveled.

The staff was impressed with the work that is being accomplished by these libraries, many of which operate on very limited budgets.

The staff plans to take a display collection of books to each of the four counties, Orange, Rockland, Ulster and Sullivan, late in September. From this display libraries will choose up to $200 worth for their own collections.

Held on Morals Charge

Alonzo Garvin, 16, of Clintondale, was arrested Wednesday night by Trooper Henry Ganss of the Highland state police on a charge of imparing the morals of a minor. It is alleged that he molested an eight-year-old Town of Lloyd girl last night. He was arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Louis Canino of Highland, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County Jail to await action of the grand jury.

Designed by Williams Research Corp. to replace a live teacher, the device has a sound motion picture screen on which a teacher appears, lecturing and quizzing the student. In response to questions, the pupil pushes answer buttons and is automatically graded on adding machine tape (at right of screen) which records the answers with accuracy.

E. German Says Communists Plan War of Conquest

BONN, Germany (AP) — An East German army officer who fled to the West said today a war of conquest is being planned by the Communists against West Germany.

Capt. Guenther Malikowski showed a news conference documents he said disclosed that the East German army is being drilled for attack.

Malikowski said he had been an official in the political training unit of the army. It was his job, he said, to supervise the re-education of his division as part of an all-out war against the West.

Among the documents he brought along were leaflets and posters, all marked confidential, earmarked for distribution right after the Communists had marched into West Germany.

One poster, a "Notice to the population," admonished the people to cease all resistance and remain quiet.

"The war will be over for you in a few days," the poster said.

Werner Krueger, deputy government press chief who introduced Malikowski to the press, said there could be no doubt about the truth of what he said and of the authenticity of the documents.

Iowa leads the nation in production of corn and hogs, Kansas in wheat, with Texas producing the most cattle.

The move added three plants to National Gypsum's 60-plant mining and manufacturing network and increased the company's cement making capacity to 16.5 million barrels annually, the company said.

National Gypsum entered cement manufacturing last year when it acquired the Huron Portland Cement Co., of Detroit in a $60 million stock transaction.

Cairo Man Held For Crime Wave, Seek Hudsonian

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A 21-year-old man was in jail today after two months of committing burglaries and passing bad checks with another man in the East, South and Midwest, State Police said.

Police said Larry Q. Rice had become "fed up with it all" and returned to his home in Cairo, Greene County.

Troopers had a warrant for his alleged accomplice, Alfred W. Dorstek, alias Barton, 25, of Hudson.

Rice was arrested Wednesday night. He waived examination on charges of grand larceny and burglary and was sent to Albany County Jail to await grand jury action.

Inspector Albin Johnson of the State Police said the men's activities included a $2,218 robbery of a supermarket in Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 3.

Troopers quoted Rice as saying he had decided to head for home after the robbery but Dorstek, driving another automobile, pursued him from Cincinnati, where they had been living, for six hours.

Rice said he finally lost Dorstek in Pennsylvania by pulling off a highway.

Johnson said their escapades had included:

The theft of electronics equipment and tools at a roller-skating rink near Altamont, Albany County.

Selling that stolen property in Florida and passing bad checks in Jacksonville, Fla., and Houston, Tex.

Stealing six phonographs after breaking into a Poughkeepsie store by cutting a hole through the floor of the apartment they had rented above the store.

Johnson said Dorstek had been sought for several years by authorities in several states on a

Broome Couple Perish in Blaze

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A 72-year-old couple perished today in a pre-dawn fire tha' levelled their house on Ketchum Road, about seven miles southeast of here.

The bodies of Arthur F. Newcomb and his wife, Ida, were found in the basement ruins of the two-story, six-room frame house, where they lived alone with their dog. The dog, a 6-year-old Beagle-Spitz, was found safe, outside.

Newcomb was a retired upholsterer.

Firemen said they believed the flames stemmed from a wood fire in a stove, possibly after kerosene had been used to encourage the fire. One side of the house was half-gone when the Conklin volunteer firemen arrived, after being summoned by a motorist.

Her cap of pleated tulle secured her veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a white prayer book with white roses and stephanotis.

TAKING PICTURES OF CHURCH CEREMONIES

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I attended two weddings at which the brides had photographers at the church taking pictures of them. Even while the clergyman was reading the marriage ceremony, the photographer was up on the altar snapping pictures. Flash bulbs were going off one after the other. It was most distracting and certainly took away from the solemnity of the service. After the ceremony, I remarked about this to a friend and said that I thought picture taking in church was out of order and in my opinion, in very bad taste. She said that it was perfectly proper and done all the time at weddings. I would like to know what you think about this.

Answer: I feel as you do about picture-taking during a church ceremony, but your friend is right that today many churches including Westminster Abbey in London and St. Peter's in Rome, allow their ceremonies to be photographed with still and motion picture cameras and televised as well.

In Her Mother's Place

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my mother is not living, is it essential that the groom's mother be seated last, or is it correct that the one whom I have chosen to take my mother's place be seated last?

Answer: The one you have chosen to take your mother's place would be seated last. The reason being that the lady who enters last and is given the aisle seat on the bride's side, is the announcement that the bride has arrived and the processional is about to start.

Tipping for Electrolysis Treatment

Dear Mrs. Post: When taking a series of electrolysis treatments, is it necessary, or expected, that the operator be tipped after each treatment? The treatment in a beauty salon usually costs about five dollars. Is a tip necessary on top of this amount each time? If so, how much of a tip is usual?

Answer: Yes, the operator should be tipped each time. Fifteen per cent would be a fair tip.

Mrs. Kennedy Refutes Unfair Remarks About Wardrobe; Says Mrs. Nixon Spends More

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy can be chic without spending thousands on clothes. She proved it Wednesday by looking smart and charming in a $29.95 maternity dress.

However the dark-haired, hazel-eyed wife of the Democratic candidate for president is reaching the point where she cries "unfair" when women critics describe her as "too chic" and spending too much on clothes.

She is both hurt and surprised at reports having her spending $15,000 to $30,000 a year on clothes. The "number" she was wearing she bought at a Manhattan shop.

Concerning one story that has her spending $30,000 yearly on Paris clothes, the 31-year-old Mrs. Kennedy commented:

"I couldn't spend that much unless I wore sable underwear."

In this political year, the young lady who was voted the most beautiful debutante of the year in 1948 is also amazed by other remarks about her personal appearance—including a letter to a newspaper which described her hair-do as a "floor-mop."

"I try to keep it neat and well-groomed," she told reporters, adding:

"They're beginning to snipe at me about as often as they attack Jack on Catholicism. I think it's dreadfully unfair."

Since people are getting so personal in remarks about her, Mrs. Kennedy feels she is entitled to her say concerning another lady who buys clothes—the wife of the Republican candidate for president.

"I'm sure I spend less than Mrs. Nixon on clothes," said Mrs. Kennedy. "She gets hers at Elizabeth Arden, and nothing there costs less than $200 or $300."

Mrs. Kennedy says she does buy occasionally from the Paris high-fashion houses. "I've lived in Paris and I have a younger sister, Lee, who lives abroad, so I go there whenever I can.

"But I never buy more than one suit or coat from Balenciaga and Givenchy."

Mrs. Kennedy said she also does "a lot of shopping from magazines," adding: "Some clothes I have made by a little dressmaker in Washington."

Mrs. Kennedy, who expects a child in December, will not be able to dash about the country lending a hand to her husband's campaign.

But if there is a more loyal rooter, he'd be hard to find.

"I think Jack has a sense of history and the past of his country," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Someone has to talk to the Russians. If my country were in Jack's hands, to give the decade a start, I'd feel safe."

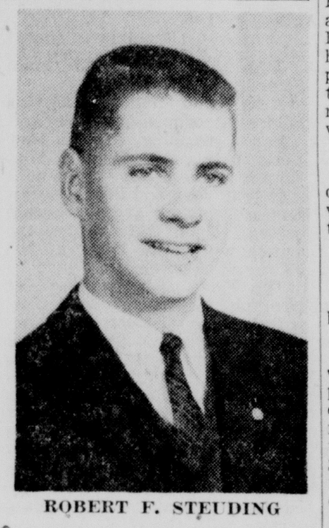
Among those present at Wednesday's open house, are James Dwyer Jr., treasurer; Edwin Ford, vice president, and Frank Reis Sr., secretary. As head of the association, President Fletcher has spearheaded progressive action for promoting the business area with emphasis on adequate parking, traffic control and zoning. Steuding Taking Part in Honors Program at Siena



ROBERT F. STEUDING

As an outgrowth of the honors seminar introduced last year at Siena College, a new four year honors program in English has been instituted which will be continuous and cumulative from the freshman to the senior year, it was announced Wednesday by the Rev. Brian F. Duffy, OFM, dean of the college.

Membership has ben limited to an average of 15 students from each of the four college years. Participating in the program is Robert F. Steuding, RFD 3, Box 44, Kingston.

Features of the new program will be discussion and independent study in depth of required courses, with regular seminar meetings once a week. Upper classmen admitted have been selected on the basis of their aptitude and achievement. Incoming freshmen have been chosen as a result of their scoring on predictive tests used by the Siena Guidance Center.

Since all Siena students are required to take 18 credit hours of English, candidates have been selected from all areas of department specialization.

Seniors and juniors will be given special privileges in Dawson Memorial Library and will be guests at all teas and receptions for visiting professors and the Greyfriar lecturerers.

Siena faculty members currently engaged in the new Honors program are the Rev. Matthew Conlin, OFM, arts chairman; the Rev. Vianney Vormwald, OFM., head of the English department and Dr. William Hirten, associate professor of English.

Fresh Potatoes

Locally produced potatoes are in season with receipts from nearby production areas increasing. Another big crop is in prospect, assuring consumers of ample supplies throughout fall and winter. Ample supplies are needed, because Americans serve potatoes more often than any other vegetable. You can handle this mainstay of the diet the easy way. And the easy way with potatoes embraces selection, preparation, and cooking.

Digging of potatoes on Long Island, the big producer among nearby growing areas, started about mid-July for Irish Cobblers, an early maturing variety. The other leading varieties, Katahdin and Chippewa, are mature and ready to harvest. Yields for the Long Island crop are exceptional this year. Upstate New York will produce a good crop, too.

Potato Prices

Marketing of potatoes during September will be unusually heavy this year. The crop is early with most potatoes ripe for digging. Yet it is too early to place potatoes in storage. Hence, consumers will find potatoes favorably priced.

Potatoes have benefited from the weather this growing season. The result is high yields and good quality. The crop has a bigger share of large potatoes than usual. According to Daniel H. Fricke, Associate Agricultural Agent for Suffolk County, Long Island potatoes are testing high on specific gravity. Such potatoes have a high proportion of solids in relation to moisture and are more mealy when cooked.

Top Quality Potatoes

Remember ptatoes of the best quality are easy to clean, look well when served and have little waste.

Look for potatoes that:

Are firm, clean, and bright.

Have shallow eyes.

Are free from blemishes and bruises.

Are well-shaped.

Clean potatoes require less washing before cooking. If pared, potatoes with shallow eyes and with smooth contours not only have less waste but take less time to clean and peel. Studies show homemakers prefer a medium-sized potato because of its convenience. Portions can be judged more readily when potatoes are of medium size. Medium-sized potatoes adapt to several different methods of cookery, and they are easy to handle and peel.

At The Markets

Cheese — Cheese rates the feature spot on the list of October plentifuls. Production of cheese is greater than last year and stocks are up, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. You may expect to find large amounts of all types of domestic cheese at retail markets, with some on price specials. October is the month the dairy industry promotes cheese.

Beef — Also plentiful will be beef. While supplies of USDA Prime, USDA Choice, and USDA Good will be similar to that of recent months, more beef of the lower grades, the leaner type, will be available.

Lamb — Lamb should be a wise buy in October, because supplies are expected to remain above those of a year ago while prices will probably continue low.

Broilers — Broilers have been on the Plentiful Foods List since August and will continue so during October. With the coming of fall weather, try large size broilers for economical oven roasts. You may roast them stuffed or not as you prefer.

Turkeys — Turkeys are another poultry favorite scheduled for generous supply. It's the large size birds, those weighing 20 to 24 pounds, ready-to-cook, that are particularly plentiful.

Rosendale Unit

The first fall meeting of the Rosendale Evening Unit of the Home Extension Service will be held Monday 8 p. m. at the Rosendale Firehall. Anyone interested in joining may attend. Programs for the year will be discussed.

Vidal Is Speaker At Ladies Night

More than 100 persons attended the opening dinner meeting of the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church Wednesday night and heard an address by Gore Vidal, author and playwright and Democratic candidate for Congress from the 29th District.

Vidal, who hails from Barrytown across the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge in Dutchess County, described preparations for the opening of "The Best Man" on Broadway, and his experiences as a writer for motion pictures and television. He is the author of the play, "The Best Man," which opened recently in New York City.

The audience was about evenly divided between men and women, the occasion being a Ladies' Night.

Vidal was introduced by Clair Sheaffer, president of the club. James Little is program chairman. The buffet dinner was prepared by Mrs. William Kaercher and her committee.

Winter Wheat Program Listed; Similar to 1960

With winter wheat planting getting under way, Chairman John S. Geary of the Ulster County ASC Committee pointed out today that the wheat program for 1961 will be essentially the same as it has been in recent years.

In the program Geary listed the following:

Voted in July

Marketing quotas—As a result of an 87.4 affirmative vote of wheat growers who voted in a referendum July 21, marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1961 crop and the marketing of excess wheat will be subject to a penalty.

Price support—Price support will be available on 1961 crop wheat at minimum national average rate of $1.78 per bushel, the same as the rate for 1960.

Acreage allotments — Each wheat producing farm has an acreage allotment, representing the farm's share of the national allotment, which again in 1961 stands at 55 million acres, the minimum permitted by law.

Under the marketing quota system, any farmer who keeps within his wheat acreage allotment (or does not exceed 15 acres of wheat) may market his total wheat crop without penalty. Also exempt from penalty is any farmer who obtains approval to participate in the feed wheat program and produces 30 acres or less of wheat for use on his farm.

Other growers who exceed their allotments will generally be subject to a marketing quota penalty on the normal yield of the excess acres. The penalty rate for 1961 will continue at 45 per cent of parity, which for 1960 worked out to a dollar and cents penalty rate of $1.08 per bushel.

The wheat price support program for 1961 will be carried out through loans on farm—or warehouse stored grain and through purchase agreements. Support will be available from harvest time in the summer of 1961 to the end of January, 1962.

The tentative support level is a minimum announced in advance of planting, which may be increased on the basis of later information next year but may not be reduced.

The total U. S. wheat supply for the 1960-61 marketing year is now estimated at a new record of 2,682 million bushels, according to the latest U. S. Department of Agriculture report on the wheat situation received at the local ASC office. Further information can be obtained from H. T. Wurzinger, county office manager of the Ulster County ASC office, 54 John Street.

MRS. REGINALD LAWLIS
(Pennington photo)

Miss Josephine Berardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Berardi of 40 Roosevelt Avenue and Reginald Lawlis of 5 Sterling Street exchanged nuptial vows Sunday, Sept. 11 at St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh. The Rev. Frank Brennan, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Lawlis is the son of Mrs. Alice Lawlis of Smyrma Mills, Me., and Preston Lawlis of Glendora, Calif.

The church was decorated with white gladioli for the occasion. Musical selections included Ave Maria.

John Turck of 185 Main Street was best man.

A reception for the family was held at Broglio's, West Park.

For a wedding trip to New York City, the former Miss Berardi chose a beige dress with matching coat and brown accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 105 Fairmont Avenue, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and Central Academy School of Cosmetology, Newburgh. She attended the Academy of Mt. St. Vincent, Tuxedo Park and Wood Secretarial School, New York City.

Regents Favors TV Station for School Purposes

The New York State Board of Regents has reacted favorably to a proposal made by the Mohawk-Hudson Council on Educational Television to put on educational television station on the air.

In a letter to Council President William L. Gold, Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., said, " . . . the State Board of Regents wholeheartedly favored the request of the Mohawk Hudson Council on Education Television to use Channel 17 for the establishment of a non-commercial television station in the Capital area."

The Board of Regents holds a construction permit for erecting a television station to operate on Channel 17. In order for the Board to transfer its construction permit to the Council, the approval of the Federal Communications Commission must first be obtained.

Council President Gold said, "This action by the Regents represents another step forward in getting an educational television station in this area.

Jackson Assails Hate-Mail, GOP Denies Its Source

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Democratic national chairman, says someone is flooding the mails with anti-Catholic literature in an attempt to defeat John F. Kennedy for president.

Former President Harry S. Truman also brought up the subject while taking a morning stroll Wednesday in New York. "In my home town," Truman remarked, "the Republicans are sending out all the dirty pamphlets they can find on religion."

That brought emphatic denials from the former GOP national chairman, Meade Alcorn and from Ed Stollenwerck, Republican chairman of Truman's own Jackson County, Mo. They said Republican organizations have no part in any hate-mail campaign.

Jackson said that as far as he knows the mail has not come from any Republican party official, but he urged newsmen to track down the source of the anti-Catholic mail.

He wouldn't say what information he has on any source, but told a news conference: "I'll give you a little clue. You might ask Dr. Peale who prepared his statement."

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York minister and author of inspirational books, led a group of 150 Protestant ministers and laymen who met here a week ago and issued a statement. It said any Roman Catholic president (Kennedy is a Catholic) would be under pressure from the church hierarchy to breach the wall of separation of church and state.

The statement was issued as a collective one by the group, which called itself the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

Peale later backed off a little. He said public agitation over the religious issue would harm the nation and that therefore he would take no active part in the political campaign.

Jackson said Peale was a Republican and a friend of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy's Republican opponent. He said, "I think Dr. Peale has a deep responsibility as a matter of conscience to tell the truth" about the authorship of the group's statement.

Peale was not available for comment on Jackson's statement.

Tours California

Rocky Stresses Foreign Policy, Rights in Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller of New York continued to stress foreign policy and civil rights as he moved through California on behalf of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.

He headed south today for appearances in Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Rockefeller campaigned Wednesday from Sacramento to Sausalito on San Francisco Bay, with stops at Richmond, Berkeley and Palo Alto.

Some 3,500 at the University of California heard Rockefeller at an open air speech on the Berkeley campus. There he said freedom is being challenged now, more than any other time, by those who are turning individuals into "tools of the state — cogs in machines who have lost the capacity for independent thought."

The governor told more than 1,200 persons at a Richmond box dinner rally:

"Vice President Nixon has been a constant foe of racial discrimination, and has played a leading role in the Eisenhower administrations' efforts to stamp it out."

Rockefeller said Nixon is a friend of most of the world's leaders.

"When you add to this the fact that the vice president's running mate is Henry Cabot Lodge, who has dealt with the Russians and with all the great foreign policy issues before the United Nations since 1953, it is clear that Nixon-Lodge ticket represents leadership of outstanding capacity and experience for meeting the great international challenges we face in the next four years," he said.

The race was no contest due to a foul against Halswelle. When other contestants refused to race again, he trotted around the track alone.

Classes are also offered at 11 a. m., during the morning worship service, for kindergarten and primary age children. The classes help to alleviate crowded conditions in the lower grades at the 9:45 hour, as well as to provide a more convenient schedule for those families with young children living some distance from the church.

Advance registration for classes was held this past Sunday, with registration continuing this coming Sunday for new pupils, as well as those having attended the Methodist Sunday school before.

Fall Services

The regular schedule of morning worship services at New Paltz Methodist Church continues through the fall, with services being conducted Sunday 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. The service at 8:30 a. m. is a somewhat briefer service provided for the convenience of those finding it difficult to attend at 11. During the 11 o'clock service a nursery is maintained for the care of young children.

The Rev. Willett Porter, pastor of the church, will preach this Sunday at both services, and he will be assisted by Peter Jacobs, assistant minister to students. Following the service at 11 a. m. Mr. Jacobs will conduct new college students on a tour of the church, concluding the same at Wesley House, Methodist Student Activity Center.

Harvest Fair, Supper

The annual harvest fair and supper sponsored by the Lloyd Methodist Church will be held this year on Saturday, Sept. 24 at the church hall, on the old New Paltz-Highland Road. The supper will be served from 5:30 p. m. until all are served. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bragg, or from other members of the church or Ladies' Aid Society.

Junior Choir Resumes

The New Paltz Methodist junior choir is re-organizing for the fall season under the new directorship of Mrs. Paul Steiner. Mrs. R. Francis HasBrouck will once again accompany the choir. The first rehearsal of the season is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 23, at 3:30 p. m. Parents may contact Mrs. Steiner or Mrs. HasBrouck for further information.

Young People to Meet

Junior high and senior high young people may meet with the pastor of the church Sunday 7 p. m. in the Methodist Social Hall. This will be an informal get-together to discuss the youth fellowship program of the church for the coming year. Plans will also be made to have representatives attend the MYF District Training Retreat to be held at Camp Epworth, Sept. 23-25.

Men's Club Meets

The next supper meeting of the New Paltz Methodist Parish Men's Club will be held Monday, Sept. 26, in the social hall of the church. Men from other churches in the area may attend the session to hear the guest speaker, the Rev. Willis Tabor, migrant chaplain of the New Paltz, Modena and Clintondale area.

ChurchOpen for Prayer

In accordance with New Paltz Methodist Church's desire to be of service to the people of the community, it is announced by the pastor, that the church, Main and Grove Streets, is always open for study and prayer. Friends may come in often during the week, as well as on Sunday, for private devotions and meditation. Vesper bells ring each evening at 6:30 from the church tower.

County Cancer Unit Allotment Is $8,282 From State Division

An appropriation of $9,282 has been made by the American Cancer Society, New York State Division, to the Ulster County Unit for carrying out the local program of cancer control, according to county unit president, Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

The grant covers continued operation of the Society's education, public information and patient service program throughout this county for the fiscal year starting September 1, and is part of the $541,000 allocated by the division for education and patient service projects in the 54 up-state counties.

In addition to the purely local services, funds subscribed to the society's annual Cancer Crusade support a vast national research endeavor to find the causes, cures, and preventatives of cancer, provide specialized training for physicians in cancer diagonsis and treatment, and stimulate the establishment and operation of facilities to aid the cancer control program, such as the current national effort in detection of uterine cancer by means of cytology, the microscopic examination of body fluids obtained during regular physical examinations.

Commenting on the receipt of the grant, President Gorman mentioned the need for additional volunteers locally for participation in the Ulster County Unit's education and service program which operates from the Friendly Red Door (Information Center) at 400 Broadway, which can be reached by phone.

Probers Checking Crash of Electra

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal aviation authorities today were probing the crash of an American Airlines Electra which struck an 8-foot-high mound of dirt on landing at La Guardia field Wednesday and flipped over and burned.

Although the huge craft skidded upside down for about 500 feet, and fire broke out, none of the 70 passengers and six crew members suffered serious injury. Of 28 persons who were cut and bruised, only six were taken to Flushing Hospital. Of these, only two had to remain for treatment.

The craft was bound from Boston to St. Louis.

Supervisory check pilot Sheldon E. Pangburn, 46, of Melrose, Mass., Wednesday told the Federal Aviation Agency that the approach to La Guardia was "normal" and "everything was functioning normally."

Some passengers later reported the approach seemed very low and too steep.

Pangburn said a "strong gust of wind" tilted his ship "in the last moment of approach."

The dike which the plane struck is one of a number erected around the field to prevent water seepage. The field largely is made up of low-lying land largely reclaimed from bay and East River waters surrounding it on three sides.

Responding to a knock on the door, a housewife found a man standing apologetically before her.

Man—I just ran over your cat, and I'd like to replace her.

Housewife—Well, get busy. There's a mouse in the pantry.

The politician was determined to go through with his speech even though he was very tired. Just think, he said, only 50 years ago this spot was wild and uncultivated. Then his memory collapsed and he couldn't think of the next lines.

To help refresh his memory he repeated, Only 50 years ago not a living person was in this region. He paused again.

An unsympathetic heckler shouted, And don't you wish it were that way now.

Are you medical or surgical, one little boy asked another in a children's ward at the hospital.

The other looked perplexed, I don't know what you mean, he said.

His friend looked at him pityingly, I mean, he explained with a grown up air, were you sick when you came, or did they make you sick after you got here?

LAST SONG: 'r the time of the Greek philosopher Plato, it was thought that the swan, unable to sing like other birds, would burst into one last song before it died — thus a last performance of anything became known as a "swan song."

NEW YORK (AP)—American Protestants have sent more than three million pounds of clothing and bedding, 124,000 pounds of medical supplies and nearly two million pounds of food to needy areas overseas in the first six months of this year. This is more than double the amount sent in the same period last year, reports Church World Service, relief arm of the National Council of Churches.

Poughkeepsie Blanks Braves in NY-NJ, 3-0

Everybody wants to know how Art Powell, a phenomenon as a pass rreceiver for the New York Titans, was let go by the Philadelphia Eagles . . . waived by every other team in the National Football League. . . . Simple: the Eagles didn't like the night-life influence Powell had on a couple of their brighter recruits . . . decided they'd rather have the rookies, unspoiled, than Powell. . . . Every other club in the old circuit was aware of it. . . .

If Bobby Bragan hadn't been a spare infielder on the 1941 Phillies, Danny Murtaugh wouldn't be manager of the Pittsburgh club . . . that's how capricious baseball is. . . . When Bragan became Pirate skipper in 1956, the first man he wanted as coach was Tommy Tatum, a buddy from Dodger days . . . the Buc spring training brochures actually listed Tatum . . . but Tommy backed down for personal reasons, and only then did Bragan dredge up Murtaugh, a guy he remembered from the Phillies of '41. . . . Of course, when Bragan was fired a year later, who got the job? Murtaugh. . . .

Danny Murtaugh

Tip to the Rose Bowl: Syracuse is taking dead aim at Pasadena this year. . . . They like both the prestige and the dough, after that bonanza playing UCLA in the Los Angeles Coliseum last December. . . .

The most precocious child in football must belong to Dick Gallagher, general manager of the Buffalo Bills . . . when 12-year-old Patty met Ralph Wilson, the Bill owner and daddy's boss, she shook her head: "Why do you want to mess around with this football? With the kind of money you got, you ought to go into horse racing. It's a much better bet." . . . Patty knows that Daddy has been careful not to sell his home in Cleveland yet. . . .

When Gallagher worked for the Browns, Paul Brown dropped by to tell Patty he was on his way to Europe and an audience with the Pope. . . . "I'm going to have him bless our schedule," winked Maestro Paul. . . . "Yeah," answered Patty, "but does he know who calls signals for the team?" . . . (Brown sends them in from the bench) . . .

Bob Richards, back from Rome, states flatly rising Iron Curtain success in track and field is because "the Communist countries are the only ones doing anything about fitness." . . . Richards would set up 15 national Olympic training sites to be open specifically during the summer months every year to train Olympic athletes, encourage competition between cities, counties and states and feed their best to the national camps . . . "get rid of our barbaric way of picking Olympic participants by having extended competition for six months on a point basis" . . . and finally, "open up our school facilities all year"—fellows like Parry O'Brien, Dave Davis, Fortune Gordien and Richards himself had to pay out of their pockets for places to train. . . .

An Ivy League transfer has shown up at one of the stronger Eastern schools this fall after a few years away from football . . . while he was trying to forget the fact he was kicked out of his original school after slugging a professor in a debate about a traffic skirmish. . . .

So the Pirates' Vern Law, a church deacon, won't throw at batters eh? Who do you think the Pittsburgh pitcher was when Ruben Gomez, then of the Giants, hit the dirt . . . then got up swinging a bat that almost decapitated Skipper Murtaugh and touched off one of baseball's big brawls a couple of years ago? Law was exercising the eye-for-an-eye maxim because Gomez had decked a Pirate.

Hubble Yields Only Three Hits

The Kingston Braves have played the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls 18 innings this season in NY-NJ League competition and have managed just one run during that stretch.

Tom Acker, suspended Kansas City Athletic pitcher, checked the Braves, 3-1, on July 16 at Dietz Stadium. Last night on chill-swept Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie, Jim Hubble blanked the locals, 3 to 0, on three hits and the setback was a severe jolt to Kingston's chances for their first league pennant.

Hubble, who is also well known as a basketball player, struck out nine and walked five to get the decision over southpaw Larry DeVita, who gave up six hits and whiffed five.

Two runs in the first inning was all that Hubble needed and DeVita can blame himself for the predicament. With two outs, Bob McKenna singled and DeVita proceeded to walk Gale, Centi and Callahan in succession to force in a run. Dave Musco then messed up Billy Ostrom's infield grounder and the second run scored.

Walks again haunted DeVita in the seventh, as Ostrom led off with a stroll, moved to second on another pass to Plambeck and scored on Cart Bates' single into right field.

Chance in Fifth

Kingston had its best scoring opportunity in the eighth when they loaded the bases with one out. Hubble, however, retired DiMauro and Bill Boehle on fly balls to right field.

The loss was Kingston's third of the season in 11 games. A protested game in which Acker defeated the locals on July 16 will be resolved at a meeting of the NY-NJ League in Newburgh Friday night.

Dodgers Not Completely Dead

Yanks, Orioles Face Showdown

Defeat Pirates And Balk Law's Bid for 20th Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those world champion Los Angeles Dodgers may be lost, but they're not forgotten—not when they keep bobbing up to harass the leaders in what still could become a race for the National League pennant.

After taking two of three from third-place Milwaukee last weekend, the Dodgers tagged the first-place Pittsburgh with a second straight loss, 5-2, Wednesday night trimming the Pirates' lead to 5½ games by beating Vern Law for the first time this season.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals gained on the Bucs with their eighth victory in 10 games, beating Cincinnati 6-4. The Braves walloped the Chicago Cubs 10-2 and now trail by 6½ games.

Philadelphia whipped the San Francisco Giants 5-1.

The fourth-place Dodgers, nine games behind and all but officially out of the race, handed Law his third straight defeat in a bid for his 20th victory. Wally Moon drove in three runs, bringing in the clincher with a two-run double in the fifth, against the Pirates' right-handed ace, who had a 5-0 record over Los Angeles.

Mathews Hit 37th

Stan Williams (14-8) was the winner, checking the Pirates on seven hits and fanning 13 as Pittsburgh set a NL record with 26 strikeouts in two games.

Daryl Spencer socked a two-run homer in the eighth inning that iced it for St. Louis. Rookie Bob Miller (3-1) was the winner. Jay Hook (10-17) was the loser.

Ed Mathews hit his 37th home run in a two-run first inning for Milwaukee, and Hank Aaron then hit a three-run triple as the Braves scored four in the second against loser Don Cardwell (7-14). Winner Joey Jay (8-7) gained his second complete game of the year with a six-hit performance.

Robin Roberts (10-15) beat the Giants by allowing only five singles. He retired 19 in a row and had a three-hit shutout with one out in the ninth. Billy O'Dell (7-12) was the loser.

In Virtual Tie After Athletics Nip Bombers, 2-1

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles are in a virtual tie for the American League lead today as they take a breather before Friday night's opener of a four-game showdown at Yankee Stadium.

And all because the Yankees' kissin' cousins, the last place Kansas City Athletics, bussed 'em right on the kisser.

The A's, after winning only five of 20 decisions with New York, swept the final two games of the season series with a 2-1, ninth-inning shocker Wednesday night on a tie-breaking home run by ex-Yank Andy Carey.

That shaved the Yankees' lead to one percentage point over the Orioles, who beat Detroit 11-10 in an afternoon game. Chicago's third place White Sox remained two games behind with a 6-1 setback by Washington that ended their winning streak at six.

Cleveland whipped Boston 11-7 in the other AL night game.

Art Ditmar Loses

Carey's 12th home run led off the ninth for the A's and beat Art Ditmar (14-9).

Ray Herbert (11-15) was the winner.

The Orioles blew 5-0 and 8-6 leads at Detroit, then nailed it with three runs in the ninth—on Brooks Robinson's two-run two-out triple, Ron Hansen's wrapup single and Steve Barber's neat relief. Chuck Estrada (17-9), the Orioles' top winner, was the fifth of eight pitchers used by Manager Paul Richards. The two-team total of 12 pitchers tied an AL record. Hank Aguirre (4-3) was the loser.

The White Sox were beaten by ex-teammate Earl Battey, who walloped a two-run homer in the second inning off loser Herb Score (4-10).

A seven-run third inning triggered by a leadoff homer by Mike de la Hoz and capped by Vic Power's three-run homer, bagged it for the Indians. Barry Latman (6-16) was the loser.

Williams Fans 13 But Thinks Control Is Off

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Stan Williams struck out 13 Pittsburgh batters Wednesday night and help set a new strikeout record. But he complained his control was off.

"I just didn't have my control," said the Los Angeles righthander after beating Pittsburgh 5-2. "I wasn't getting them in there where I wanted, and that may have had something to do with it.

"When the batters see a pitcher who normally has pretty good control acting a bit wild out there, they just can't loosen up like they want to.

"Some of those pitches weren't where the batters thought they were going to be. They couldn't hit them."

Dodger Manager Walter Alston agreed.

The strikeouts combined with Mike McCormick's 13 strikeouts against the Pirates Tuesday night for San Francisco, gave Pittsburgh 26 in two games, a new National League mark.

The old mark was set in 1933 when St. Louis pitchers struck out 24 Chicago batters in two straight games. The major league mark is 28.

Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh commented: "Williams was just pitching real good ball out there. "Our trouble is we're just not scoring any runs. You can't win without them. We'd better get some tomorrow."

Toronto Goes Two Up Against Buffalo Bisons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs, runaway winners of the International League regular-season race, have a head start toward winning the playoffs for the right to meet the American Assn. Playoff champion in the Little World Series.

The Leafs took their second straight from Buffalo, 4-3, in 14 innings Wednesday night as the Rochester Red Wings squared their four-out-of-seven series with the Richmond Virginians by takin the second game, 3-1.

A two-run single by pinch hitter Chris Cannizzaro in the eighth inning with the bases filled provided the Wings' winning margin. Tom Washburn and Art Kay checked the Virginians with four hits, Washburn picking up the victory.

Toronto came from behind twice to achieve its victory. The Leafs put together two doubles and a single in the 14th for two runs after the Bisons had taken a lead for the second time in the top of that inning.

Centerfielder Jackie Waters singled in the winning run in the marathon game, which took just two minutes less than four hours to play. Pinch hitter Joe Hannah doubled home Steven Demeter with the tieing run after Demeter also had doubled.

The Richmond-Rochester series moves to Rochester for tonight's game, with Willard Schmidt due to pitch for the Red Wings and Art Ceccarelli for Richmond. Toronto and Buffalo shift to Buffalo. The Bisons will start Ken Lehman and Bob Chakales will be on the mound for Toronto.

Unknown Topples Nicklaus From Amateur Throne, 5-4

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP — Four brash teenagers, with Chuck Lewis, scion of an old English golfing family, the ringleader, today try to keep the accent on youth in the National Amateur.

J ning Lewis, conqueror of defending champion Jack Nicklaus in Wednesday's fourth round, are: Phil Brownlee, Ontario, Canada, junior champion; Steve Spray of Indianola, Iowa, 1959 western junior titlist, and Harry Root of Tampa, Fla., sophomore member of the University of Florida golf team. All are 19 years old.

The match-play marathon over the hilly, timbered 6,616-yard St. Louis Country Club course, has fifth and sixth round action today. This will trim the field to the four semifinalists who will joust over the 36-hole route Friday. The winners meet in a double round Saturday for the prestige-packed championship of the 60th tournament.

Charles Francis Lewis III, whose grandfather was a golf pro 51 years in Devonshire, England, and various cities in the United States, beat Nicklaus 5 and 3. His father is pro at the Little Rock, Ark., Country Club.

Just before going out against Lewis, Nicklaus had been a tiger-like killer in mauling Marine Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., 6 and 5.

Lewis' fifth round opponent will be Carl Lohren of Norbeck, Md., 22, current Mid-Atlantic champion making his fourth try in the National.

Brownlee takes on John Guenther of Hershey, the 1960 Pennsylvania open titlist.

Root squares off against Bob Gardner of New York, who won the California Amateur crown in 1947 and 1950 and the New York Metropolitan in 1958 and 1960.

Spray draws Bert Burdick, 21, Baton Rouge, La., amateur king and a member of the LSU golf team.

Wildcats' Chances Boosted By Return of Ace Thornton

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Any moves that Northwestern makes at a Big Ten title this year will be a little more than threatening now that quarterback Dick Thornton is back on the job.

Thornton, the pride and joy of Wildcat Coach Ara Parseghian, was mainly responsible for leading Northwestern out of the Big Ten dungeon as a sophomore in 1958 and had started them in the right direction last year before breaking an ankle in the second game.

But the plucky Thornton received a reprieve. The governing body of the Big Ten announced that he would not be charged with a year of eligibility even though he played in the 'Cats 45-13 romp over Oklahoma, and had started the second game before being injured.

This meant that Thornton would help compensate for the loss of halfback Ron Burton. He was part of a two-fold blessing for the Cats, who welcomed back halfback El Kimbrough, also out in 1959 with injuries.

Wednesday, Thornton showed he'll be as good as always when the Wildcats open their season against Oklahoma a week from Saturday.

He tossed for two touchdowns in an intra-squad game, hitting Kimbrough with a 60-yard toss and throwing 50 to Paul Yanke. In addition, his passing set up two more scores.

Thornton may just put the "thorn" in the hopes of other Big Ten title aspirants, and wind up among the roses in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

The Bahama group consists of about 3,000 islands and reefs, only 20 which are inhabited.

Langhorne Event Hopefuls Tryout Tomorrow Night

Annual qualifying race for the 100-mile event at Langhorne Speedway in Langhorne, Pa., will be held Friday night at Arlington Speedway, Town of Poughkeepsie.

During the last three or four weeks all over the nation there have been qualifying races run to determine part of the 60-car starting field. Winners of those qualifying races are given position in the 100-mile event at Langhorne. The rest of the field of modified sportsmen's cars are made up from time trials the day before the event.

The purse for this year's competition is expected to exceed $11,000.

The top modified-sportsman drivers from all the racing clubs in the country, with the exception of one will be at Langhorne on Sunday, Oct. 9 for the big event.

Competing at Arlington tomorrow for the coveted position will be Joe Romer of Middletown in the Corvette powered 88. This car is usually raced only at Victory Speedway in Middletown and Nazareth, Pennsylvania, but the urge to qualify has added Joe to Friday night's card at Arlington Speedway.

Curly Walt Shubert, last year's Arlington champion and Langhorne qualifer will be there with his B-4, currently in second position in Middletown. D. D. Harris of Newburgh always one of the top drivers wherever he competes will be driving either a modified Nash from Easton, Pa., or possibly the 44 owned by Art Cervasco of Newburgh.

Jake Rassiga of Middletown will be behind the wheel of his 43. Many others are expected to show up to try for the coveted starting position.

Olympic Coach Warns Against U. S. Letdown

LONDON (AP) —The assistant coach of the U.S. track and field team warned today that America must begin building immediately for the 1964 games or face decline to a second-rate athletic power.

"There's no time to waste," said Lloyd (Bud) Winter of San Jose State (Calif.) College. "The Rome Olympics showed us that the whole world is on the move athletically. If we are to hold our position, we must tackle our job more aggressively than ever before."

Winter, who specialized in training the sprinters under head Coach Larry Snyder, suggested a four-point blueprint for success in 1964:

1. Stage a nation-wide talent hunt, probably under the auspices of the U.S. Olympic Development Committee.

Unranked Smith Draws With Hank

CHICAGO (AP) — Hammering Henry Hank, Detroit slugger who has been angling for a crack at the middleweight crown, had a new ambition today — a rematch with hitherto unknown Jesse Smith of Chicago.

Smith, unranked among the middleweights, mixed a blistering attack with skillful defense Wednesday night and held Hank to a draw in a 10-round nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium.

Smith, unawed by Hank's impressive knockout record, would have scored a big upset if he hadn't been tagged with a whistling left uppercut midway in the final round that dropped him for the nine count.

He struggled to his feet, and stuck out his tongue at Hank in a show of heroics, but a chopping overhand right had him sliding along the ropes when the final bell sounded.

Smith slipped most of Hank's heavy artillery and countered effectively, until he was tagged in the tenth. He had Hank in trouble momentarily in the third with a left-right combination and again in the sixth round, after successfully absorbing some stiff shots from the Detroit belter.

Referee Frank Sikora had Hank ahead 46-44 under the 5 points-a-round must system, while Judge Frank McAdams awarded the bout to Smith, 47-45. Judge William Doty marked both fighters even, 46-46. The Associated Press had Smith ahead 47-45.

Dallas, Oakland Seek First Wins In New League

Dallas and Oakland, two non-winners in their first starts in the new American Football League, will try again Friday night at Oakland in a passing duel between Dallas' Cotton Davidson and Oakland's Tom Flores.

The New York Titans-Boston Patriots game, originally scheduled for Friday night, has been moved to Saturday night to avoid conflict with the New York-Baltimore baseball game at Yankee Stadium.

The Titans, 27-3 winners over Buffalo last Sunday, again will alternate Al Dorow and Dick Jamieson at quarterback, against the Patriots who were upended by Denver 13-10 last week. Coach Lou Saban expects his ace halfback, Ron Burton, to be ready for action against the Titans.

Two Sunday games are on the schedule. Los Angeles will be at Houston in the battle of unbeatens and Denver will be at Buffalo.

Palmer Bids For Money High

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) —Early morning fog and dew set a damp stage as the first of 152 contestants teed off today in the 72-hole, $25,000 Tacoma Open Golf Tournament.

The early risers got away at 7:15 a.m. and the last trio was not due off the Fircrest golf course's first tee until 2:02 p.m. (PST).

Fan interest is centering on Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who is only a local victory away from setting an all-time off-season money winning record. His winnings for the year total $70,316.19 and the record, set in 1956 by Ted Kroll, is $72,835.83.

First place in the Tacoma Open will be worth $3,500. A second-place finish, paying $2,300, would leave Palmer slightly short.

The Bermudas lie about 580 miles east of the coast of North Carolina.

Senators Favor Grain Storage In River Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four senators have asked the Agriculture Department to establish a long-term grain storage program, involving at least 15 million bushels a year, in the Hudson River mothball fleet.

In a joint letter, Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York and Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey said they were gratified by the department's decision to store 7.5 million bushels of grain in the fleet.

They added, in the letter Wednesday to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson that:

"The movement of this grain will generate port employment and benefit the economy of the entire New York-New Jersey port region but it won't provide any long-term solution to the critical grain situation at the port of New York.

"We are advised that this port requires a minimum of 15 million bushels per year into and out of the mothball fleet if its grain facilities are to remain available to the nation in time of emergency ...the alternative to an assurance of this amount of grain is the abandonment of the port's grain facilities.

"This would clearly be against the national interest and would, in our judgment, represent a failure on the part of the department...to take advantage of the economies available through long-term storage in the mothball fleet."

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Barbara Stanwyck is the kind of woman who cheats about her age—the wrong way.

Ask her how old she is and you get a quick answer: "I'm 53." Ask her next January and she'll say 54. But her birthday isn't until July 16.

"I think people should be aged like race horses," she reasons. "At the beginning of each year, everyone should assume the age they are going to be that year.

"Or we should do as the Chinese do. When a baby is born over there, his age is 1, because he has had his first birthday."

I doubt if Miss Stanwyck will find widespread acceptance of her ideas, especially in Hollywood. She admitted that age can be an obsession with her fellow players.

"I get a kick out of some of them," she laughed. "I know two stars who were five years older than me when we played on Broadway together. Now they say they're five years younger.

"Age has never bothered me. I always remember what Walter Huston told me: 'Baby, it's only a number.'"

Stanwyck looks good at any age. Her hair is graying—she has never tried to camouflage it—but her face is unlined. She has a rugged schedule: a new NBC TV series in which she appears in almost every episode. Does she really want to work that hard?

Her answer was typically frank: "I've got nothing else to do."

When you ask her why she doesn't make movies, she replies with equal frankness: "Nobody has asked me."

"In the past three years, I haven't been sent any scripts, period," she declared. "Oh, I know stars who say they can't find anything they want to do in films, but I wouldn't lie about it. I just haven't had any offers."

Cuba Gives View

HAVANA (AP) — The government-controlled press said today that Prime Minister Fidel Castro is viewed by Latin-Americans in New York, Texas, New Mexico and California as the "leader of their aspirations."

And that's the reason, Cubans were told, that the United States government has ordered Castro to stay within the confines of Manhattan Island while attending the U. N. General Assembly.

Rail Talks Are Set for Sept. 30 On Work Rules

CHICAGO (AP)—Officials of the country's railroads and five railway unions have decided to postpone discussion of their work rules dispute until Sept. 30.

Representatives of the railroads and the five operating unions voted Wednesday to resume in Washington discussion of a proposal that the dispute be submitted to a special study committee.

The committee proposal has been endorsed by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell who said the committee could be appointed by the president. Mitchell attended the meeting Wednesday.

Work rules cover such things as the number of crewmen a train carries and on what basis they will be paid. The railroads say out-moded work rules result in featherbedding and cost them millions annually.

The unions contend the railroads ignore safety factors, among other things, when determining crew size and demand a voice in crew qualifications.

Notes Available To 2 Defectors Reported Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said today some handwritten briefing notes available to the two American code clerks who defected to the Soviet Union are missing.

J. Vincent Burke Jr., Defense Department general counsel, gave that testimony as the first witness in a House Armed Services subcommittee investigation of the defection of the clerks, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin.

The two clerks defected in July via Mexico and Cuba and turned up in Moscow in early September with a denouncement of their own country.

Burke told the committee, meeting in closed session, that there is no evidence at this point that Martin and Mitchell were part of an espionage ring or that they had an accomplice or accomplices here or elsewhere.

The subcommittee is investigating the circumstances of the run-out of the pair, as well as the adequacy of the security clearance systems of the various security agencies.

Burke's statement, released to newsmen, made these two other points:

"1. In the cast of Mitchell and Martin, they can cause no damage to the security of our own communications. They can, however, assist the Soviets in their efforts to render secure Soviet communications activities.

"2. So far as can be determined, no documents are missing. However, it is possible that copies of documents could have been made by them, although there is no evidence thus far which would indicate such to be the case."

Mary Dodge, who wrote "Hans Brinker," was not a native of Holland, but was born in America.

Bones, Clothing May Provide Key to Coors Disappearance

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The discovery of the bones of a six-foot man and the clothing of Adolph Coors III provided the FBI today with a possible key to the disappearance of the millionaire brewer seven months ago.

The grisley find was made at a trash dump in the Rocky Mountain foothills 12 miles west of Castle Rock, south of Denver.

This is 25 miles from the rural bridge where Coors' abandoned truck was found last Feb. 9. He had left his mountain home that morning enroute to work at the Adolph Coors Co. plant at Golden.

Agents and sheriff's officers are continuing the search for the skull and other bones they said are required for identification. A pathologist has said the bones already found are those of an adult male about six feet tall.

A truck driver on a target shooting outing, Edward Green, 30, of Englewood, found the clothing last Sunday.

He said he first found the shoes, about four feet apart, then a wadded pair of pants.

"I kicked at them and heard a jingling noise. I looked in the pockets and found 43 cents and a keychain. There was a silver pocket knife on the chain, monogrammed with the initials 'AC III.' I knew right away whose they were."

Green returned to the Denver area and advised a policeman friend, who called the FBI.

The FBI did not disclose the information until Wednesday.

Coors' wife and four children have been in seclusion since his disappearance.

His parents and brother, Joseph Coors, are vacationing at Nantucket, Mass.

Mother Leads Two From Fire, Then Dies With Aunt

HARDWICK, Vt. (AP) — After helping her two sons to safety, Mrs. Ethel Larrabee, 47, perished with her 73-year-old aunt in a fire that destroyed her home today.

As the blaze spread through the two-story wood frame house, Mrs. Larrabee woke her sons, Gary, 14, and Dennis, 17, and led them to a porch roof.

Authorities presumed that the mother then went back to help her aunt, Mrs. Florence Burroughs of Morgan, and that both were trapped.

The two boys were assisted from the roof by Donald Lagrow and Fidel Renaud who were the first to arrive at the scene.

Only the outer walls of the house were left standing when firemen quelled the blaze.

Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

Pilots Complete 30-Day Simulated Flight to Moon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots, grinning and happy, today completed a record-breaking 30-day simulated flight to the moon and back.

Capt. William D. Habluetzel of Ingleside, Tex., and Lt. John W. Hargreaves Jr., of Castle Air Force Base, Calif., stepped from their 8x12-foot pressurized steel tank at 6:30 a.m.

Habluetzel, 36, and Hargreaves, 30, were locked in the space cabin simulator at the School of Aviation Medicine here Aug. 15.

"I feel fine, just a little wobbly in the knees," said Habluetzel.

"I'm okay, except maybe I lost 15 pounds," said Hargraves.

Habluetzel said he did not experience headaches as previous space cabin test pilots have reported.

Habluetzel said he thought they felt as good as they did because they kept regular sleeping hours and did exercises every day.

"We did a lot of thinking, too. We had a lot of time for it. We thought about what people will go through when they actually fly a space ship. And we thought a lot about memories of the past," Habluetzel said.

Today's hatch-opening ceremony completed the Air Force's third major test designed to show the human body is capable of withstanding space frontier hardships.
